PRESS RELEASE

Issue of Debentures Convertible into Preferred Shares

Rio de Janeiro, October 29, 2003 PETRÓLEO BRASILEIRO S/A PETROBRAS, [Bovespa: PETR3/PETR4, NYSE: PBR/PBRA, Latibex: XPBR/XPBRA], a Brazilian international energy company, announces that its Board of Directors at a meeting held on October 29, 2003, approved the convening of an Extraordinary General Shareholder s Meeting to decide on the issue of debentures with the right of conversion to preferred shares, for public placement solely in Brazil, up to a maximum amount of R$ 300,000,000.00 (three hundred million Reais). The conversion ratio and other conditions will be determined at said Meeting.

The intended issue will be acquired by an investment fund, which will be created by Caixa Econômica Federal, although the Company s existing shareholders are assured any preemptive subscription rights.

This fund will be composed exclusively of the debentures proposed above and will be directed at promoting investments by small and medium sized investors who do not typically invest in the equity market. Petrobras aims to continue the process of dispersing and diversifying its investor base, creating conditions for a future reduction of its cost of funding.

To promote investment in the fund, the intention is to permit periodic draws of existing shares of the Company for up to 2% of the fund value among the fund participants.

This issue is not part of the program of debentures convertible into preferred shares and approved by the Extraordinary General Shareholder s Meeting held on June 10, 2002.

Notwithstanding due publication of the Convening Notices relative to the Extraordinary General Shareholder s Meeting, we wish to inform that said Meeting will be held on November 21, 2003, at 11 a.m. in the auditorium of the Company s Head Office at Avenida República do Chile, 65, 1st floor in the city of Rio de Janeiro (RJ).

Should the General Shareholders Meeting approve the referred issue of convertible debentures, the Company will announce the terms under which the operation will be concluded as soon as those terms are established.
