FORDING ADVISED OF APPLICATION FOR JUDICIAL REVIEW

Trust Confident in Approval Process of Cheviot Coal Mine Project

CALGARY, August 13, 2004 Fording Canadian Coal Trust (TSX: FDG.UN, NYSE: FDG) advises that an application for judicial review has been filed in the Federal Court of Canada by the Sierra Legal Defence Fund on behalf of five environmental groups. The application seeks to compel the Minister of Fisheries and Oceans to undertake another environmental assessment of the Cheviot Coal Mine Project in west central Alberta.

The Cheviot project was approved following a thorough and lengthy environmental assessment process that spanned over eight years. Elk Valley Coal has secured all necessary provincial mining and environmental approvals and will commence operations in the new mining area upon receipt of a Fisheries Act Authorization from the federal Department of Fisheries and Oceans (DFO). While the court application has the potential to delay the project, Elk Valley Coal continues to believe that authorization will be received on a timely basis.

We have a high level of confidence in the process undertaken by the Minister of Fisheries and Oceans and his department, said Jim Popowich, President and CEO, Elk Valley Coal. The project was rigorously reviewed with appropriate due diligence by all parties involved. We believe all federal and provincial environmental assessment requirements have been properly completed for this project.

The Cheviot project enjoys wide community and First Nations support. Continued mining will provide jobs and economic benefits for more than 20 years to the region, which includes local communities such as Hinton and Edson in Alberta.
