PRELIMINARY PROSPECTUS

131,363,112 Shares

Common Stock

This prospectus relates to the issuance from time to time of:

- up to 124,217,174 shares of our common stock that may be issued upon the exchange of the exchangeable shares of Gran Tierra Exchangeco Inc., an indirect wholly-owned Canadian subsidiary of ours, which we refer to as Exchangeco in this prospectus, and
- up to 7,145,938 shares of our common stock that may be issued upon the exercise of warrants assumed by us in the consolidation of Gran Tierra with Solana Resources Limited, an Alberta corporation.

Our consolidation with Solana, in which Solana will become an indirect wholly-owned subsidiary of Gran Tierra, and in which we will issue to the holders of Solana common stock shares of our common stock, or exchangeable shares, and we will assume warrants to purchase shares of Solana common stock which will then become warrants to purchase our common stock, is referred to in this document as the “Solana transaction.” The number of shares of our common stock issuable upon exchange of the exchangeable shares assumes that the maximum number of exchangeable shares that can be issued in the Solana transaction will be issued. The shares of common stock covered by this prospectus will not be issued until after the Solana transaction has been completed. Except as otherwise indicated, all of the information presented in this prospectus assumes that the Solana transaction will be completed. The Solana transaction is described under the caption entitled “The Solana Transaction” beginning on page 1.

Because the shares of our common stock offered by this prospectus to be issued in exchange for, or upon the redemption of, the exchangeable shares, we will not receive any cash proceeds from the issuance of shares of our common stock upon exchange of exchangeable shares in connection with this offering. We will receive up to approximately Cdn.$15,000,000, or approximately Cdn.$2.10 per share, upon exercise of the warrants assumed by us. We are paying all expenses of registration incurred in connection with this offering.

Our common stock is traded on the American Stock Exchange under the symbol “GTE” and on the Toronto Stock Exchange under the symbol “GTE”. On October 14, 2008, the closing price of our common stock was US$2.49 per share on the American Stock Exchange and Cdn$2.87 per share on the Toronto Stock Exchange.

Investing in our common stock involves risks. Before making any investment in our securities, you should read and carefully consider risks described in “Risk Factors” beginning on page 4 of this prospectus.

Neither the Securities and Exchange Commission nor any state securities commission has approved or disapproved of these securities or passed upon the accuracy or adequacy of this prospectus. Any representation to the contrary is a criminal offense.

The date of this prospectus is _____, 2008.

ABOUT THIS PROSPECTUS

You should rely only on the information contained in this prospectus and any free-writing prospectus that we authorize to be distributed to you. We have not authorized anyone to provide you with information different from or in addition to that contained in this prospectus or any related free-writing prospectus. If anyone provides you with different or inconsistent information, you should not rely on it. The information contained in this prospectus is accurate only as of the date of this prospectus, regardless of the time of delivery of this prospectus or of any sale of our common stock. Our business, financial conditions, results of operations and prospects may have changed since that date.

PROSPECTUS SUMMARY

This summary highlights information contained elsewhere in this prospectus but might not contain all of the information that is important to you. Before investing in our common stock, you should read the entire prospectus carefully, including “Risk Factors” and our financial statements and the notes thereto included elsewhere in this prospectus and in our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission and incorporated into this document by reference.

For purposes of this prospectus, unless otherwise indicated or the context otherwise requires, all references herein to “Gran Tierra,” “we,” “us,” and “our,” refer to Gran Tierra Energy Inc., a Nevada corporation, and our subsidiaries.

Our Company

Gran Tierra Energy Inc. is an international oil and gas exploration and production company operating in South America, headquartered in Calgary, Canada, incorporated in the United States. We hold interests in producing and prospective properties in Argentina, Colombia and Peru. We have a strategy that focuses on growing a portfolio of producing properties, plus production enhancement and exploration opportunities to provide a base for future growth.

Recent Developments

Reserves Update

In July 2008, we announced our estimates of reserves of the Costayaco oil field, located in Colombia, as of the end of June 2008. We now estimate proved reserves of the Costayaco oil field of 20.54 million barrels of oil, with net of royalty reserves of the Costayaco oil field now being 6.67 million barrels of oil.

The Solana Transaction

On July 28, 2008, Gran Tierra entered into an arrangement agreement with Solana Resources Limited and Gran Tierra Exchangeco Inc., an indirect wholly-owned Canadian subsidiary of ours, which we refer to as Exchangeco in this prospectus. The arrangement agreement provides for the acquisition of all of the outstanding shares of Solana common stock through the execution of a statutory plan of arrangement under Canadian law, whereby Exchangeco would acquire the common shares of Solana and Solana would become an indirect, wholly-owned subsidiary of Gran Tierra.

- Under the terms of the arrangement agreement, in exchange for each share of Solana common stock held, Solana shareholders will receive either (i) 0.9527918 of a share of Gran Tierra common stock or (ii) 0.9527918 of a share of the common stock of a Canadian subsidiary of Gran Tierra, an exchangeable share that may be exchanged for one share of Gran Tierra common stock at the election of the holder for a period of five years.
- Warrants to purchase 7,500,000 shares of Solana common stock at an exercise price of Cdn$2.00 per share are currently outstanding. Such warrants will, after the effective time of the arrangement, if not exercised or acquired for cash in or prior to the Solana transaction, represent the right to purchase shares of our common stock. Under the arrangement, the number of shares of our common stock issuable upon exercise of the warrants after the effective time of the arrangement will be equal to 7,145,938 (or such lesser number of shares if a portion of the warrants have been exercised or acquired for cash to the effective time of the arrangement) multiplied by the exchange ratio, and the exercise price for such warrants will be approximately Cdn$2.10.
- Options to purchase up to approximately 3,945,000 shares of Solana common stock at a weighted average exercise price of Cdn$1.89 per share are currently outstanding. The plan of arrangement provides that the options can be converted to cash or Solana common shares pursuant to a formula set forth in the plan of arrangement or, if the optionholder will be a director, officer, employee or consultant of Gran Tierra or a subsidiary of Gran Tierra immediately subsequent to the consummation of the Solana transaction, the optionholder can elect to cause the Solana options to become options to purchase shares of Gran Tierra common stock based on a formula set forth in the plan of arrangement.

- As an inducement for each party to enter into the arrangement agreement, contemporaneously with the execution of the arrangement agreement, certain directors and officers of Solana and Gran Tierra, entered into additional agreements (that would become terminable upon any termination of the arrangement agreement in accordance with its terms) whereby each of the parties agreed, among other things, to vote all of her or his shares of common stock held in the respective company: (i) in favor of the adoption of the arrangement agreement; and (ii) generally against any action or agreement that is intended, or would reasonably be expected, to delay, prevent or adversely affect the Solana transaction.
- The Solana transaction, which is expected to close prior to November 15, 2008, is subject to United States and foreign regulatory approvals, approval by holders of stock of both companies and other customary conditions. The arrangement agreement also contains mutual representations and warranties of the parties covering customary matters. Each of the parties also makes various covenants in the arrangement agreement, including those requiring the parties to use reasonable efforts to consummate the transaction and prohibiting the parties from taking certain actions that would impede the consummation of the transaction.

- The arrangement agreement may be terminated by either Gran Tierra or Solana under certain circumstances set forth in the arrangement agreement, including, among other circumstances, the failure of the plan of arrangement to be consummated on or before November 15, 2008, the failure of Solana shareholders to approve the plan of arrangement, the failure of the Gran Tierra stockholders to approve the issuance of shares contemplated by the plan of arrangement and the failure to obtain the necessary regulatory approvals. If the arrangement agreement is terminated (i) in certain circumstances following the receipt by Solana of a superior proposal or (ii) as a result of Solana's board of directors changing its recommendation in favor of the plan of arrangement, the arrangement agreement or the transactions contemplated by the arrangement agreement, Solana will be obligated to pay a termination fee to Gran Tierra in the amount of $21 million. If the arrangement agreement is terminated as a result of Gran Tierra's board of directors changing its approval or recommendation of the arrangement agreement, the plan of arrangement and the other transactions contemplated by the arrangement agreement, Gran Tierra will be obligated to pay a termination fee to Solana in the amount of $21 million. A party to the arrangement agreement may recover up to $1.5 million of its expenses in the event of a failure to satisfy a certain condition in the arrangement agreement.
- We amended the arrangement agreement on September 5, 2008 and October 9, 2008 to amend the Plan of Arrangement to provide (1) that Exchangeco, rather than Gran Tierra, would make any payments pursuant to dissenters rights, (2) to make technical revisions to the treatment of Solana stock options and (3) to revise the requirement for electing to take Gran Tierra shares or exchangeable shares.

Colombian Participation Agreement

Gran Tierra is party to a Colombian Participation Agreement, dated June 22, 2006, between Argosy Energy International, Gran Tierra Energy Inc. and Crosby Capital, LLC, as amended, the "Colombian Participation Agreement", entered into in connection with Gran Tierra's original acquisition of its interests in Colombia, pursuant to which Gran Tierra is obligated to pay specified amounts based on production from the properties acquired. In July 2008, Gran Tierra negotiated an amendment to the Colombian Participation Agreement to provide that, in the event that the Arrangement is consummated, Gran Tierra will issue two million shares of Gran Tierra common stock to the holders of the rights to receive payments under that agreement, in consideration for the holders agreeing that their rights to receive payments on production from the properties Gran Tierra acquired would not apply to Solana's interests in the properties in which Solana and Gran Tierra have joint working interests, even after the combination of the two companies. In the event that combination of Gran Tierra and Solana does not occur, then Gran Tierra would not be obligated to issue the two million shares, and the rights of the royalty holders under the Colombian Participation Agreement would not be affected.

Corporate Information

Gran Tierra Energy Inc. was incorporated under the laws of the State of Nevada on June 6, 2003, under the name of Goldstrike Inc. Our principal executive offices are located at 300, 611 - 10th Avenue S.W., Calgary, Alberta T2R 0B2, Canada. The telephone number at our principal executive offices is (403) 265-3221. Our website address is www.grantierra.com. Information contained on our website is not deemed part of this prospectus.

The Offering

The following is a brief summary of the offering. You should read the entire prospectus carefully, including "Risk Factors" and the information, including financial information relating to Gran Tierra, included in our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, or SEC, and incorporated in this document by reference.

Securities Offered 131,363,112 shares of our common stock. (1)

Use of Proceeds

We will not receive any cash proceeds from the shares of our common stock that will be issued in exchange for or upon redemption of the exchangeable shares.

We may receive up to Cdn$15,000,000 (approximately US$12,932,150 assuming a Canadian/US dollar exchange rate of US$0.86 per one Canadian dollar, the noon buying rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York on October 14, 2008) in net cash proceeds in connection with the exercise of the Solana warrants if no warrants have been exercised or acquired for cash to the effective time of the arrangement. If received, we will use any of the proceeds for general corporate purposes.

Trading

Dividend Policy We do not intend to declare dividends for the foreseeable future, as we anticipate that we will reinvest any future earnings in the development and growth of our business.

Risk Factors See “Risk Factors” and the other information in this prospectus for a discussion of the factors you should carefully consider before deciding to invest in the shares of our common stock being offered by us in this document.

(1) The number of shares reflects:

· up to 124,217,174 shares of our common stock that may be issued upon the exchange of the exchangeable shares of Exchangeco, and

· up to 7,145,938 shares of our common stock that may be issued upon the exercise of warrants assumed by us in the Solana transaction.

Solana shareholders will either receive shares of our common stock or exchangeable shares in the Solana transaction. Solana optionholders may elect to convert their Solana options into Solana common shares immediately prior to the Solana transaction, in which case they would become Solana shareholders, or may elect to receive a cash payment for their Solana stock options. The number of shares of our common stock issuable upon exchange of exchangeable shares, as reflected above, assumes that all Solana stockholders receive exchangeable shares in the Solana transaction and that all Solana optionholders elect to receive Solana common shares in exchange for their Solana stock options immediately prior to the completion of the Solana transaction. The number of shares actually issuable upon exchange of exchangeable shares will be reduced by the number of shares of our common stock issued directly to Solana stockholders in the Solana transaction, as well as to the extent that Solana optionholders do not elect to convert their Solana stock options into Solana common shares immediately prior to the completion of the Solana transaction.

Warrants to purchase 7,145,938 shares of Solana common stock, if not exercised or acquired for cash in or prior to the Solana transaction, will, after the completion of the Solana transaction, represent warrants to purchase shares of our common stock. We refer to these warrants as the Solana warrants. The Solana warrants will represent the right to purchase up to 7,145,938 shares of our common stock, and will be exercisable for approximately Cdn$2.10 per share, or up to a maximum of Cdn$15 million, if no warrants to purchase Solana shares are exercised or acquired for cash in or prior to the Solana transaction and all Solana warrants are exercised.

RISK FACTORS

Investing in our common stock involves a high degree of risk. In addition to the risk factors described in our Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q, filed with the SEC on August 11, 2008, and the risk factors set forth in our Joint Proxy Statement filed with the SEC on October 14, 2008, each of which is incorporated by reference in this prospectus, and the other information contained or incorporated by reference in this prospectus, you should carefully consider the risk factors described below before making an investment decision. The risks and uncertainties described below and incorporated by reference are not the only risks we face. Additional risks and uncertainties not presently known to us or that we currently deem immaterial may impair our future business operations. Our business, financial condition or results of operations could be materially adversely affected by any of these risks. In such case, the trading price of our common stock could decline and you could lose all or part of your investment.

The Exchange of Your Exchangeable Shares is Generally Taxable in Canada.

Based on the tax laws as of the date of this prospectus, the exchange of exchangeable shares for shares of Gran Tierra common stock is generally a taxable event in Canada. A holder's tax consequences can vary depending on a number of factors, including the residency of the holder, the method of the exchange and the length of time that the exchangeable shares were held prior to the exchange. Canadian income tax consequences will vary depending on your particular circumstances. We strongly urge you to consult your tax advisor as to the tax consequences of exchanging your exchangeable shares for Gran Tierra common stock. See "Income Tax Consequences."

The Exchange of Your Exchangeable Shares may be Taxable in the U.S.

For U.S. federal income tax purposes, a U.S. Holder will recognize gain or loss on the exchange of exchangeable shares for shares of Gran Tierra common stock unless the exchangeable shares (along with certain voting and related rights) are treated as shares of Gran Tierra common stock for U.S. federal tax purposes. There is no direct authority under existing U.S. federal income tax law on whether the exchangeable shares should be treated as shares of Exchangeco stock or shares of Gran Tierra common stock for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Accordingly, Cooley Godward Kronish LLP, Gran Tierra's U.S. counsel, is not able to provide an opinion on whether gain or loss will be recognized on the exchange of exchangeable shares for shares of Gran Tierra common stock. However, Cooley Godward Kronish LLP has provided an opinion regarding the material U.S. federal income tax consequences applicable to a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction if such transaction is taxable and also if such transaction is not taxable for U.S. federal income tax purposes. No ruling from the Internal Revenue Service will be sought with respect to the issue of whether the exchange of exchangeable shares is a taxable event for U.S. Holders. Each holder of exchangeable shares should consider that the tax consequences of a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction may be adverse to the holder based on that holder's particular circumstances. It may be prudent for U.S. holders to assume that the IRS will assert and prevail with a position that is contrary or adverse to the position taken by the U.S. holder.

For a description of the U.S. material federal income tax consequences of an exchange of exchangeable shares for shares of Gran Tierra common stock, see "Material U.S. Federal Income Tax Consequences of the Retraction, Redemption or Purchase of Exchangeable Shares."

The Market Price of Our Common Stock May Be Less Than the Market Price of the Exchangeable Shares.

Gran Tierra common stock is listed on the American Stock Exchange and on the Toronto Stock Exchange, and the exchangeable shares are to be listed on the Toronto Stock Exchange. We do not intend to list the exchangeable shares or Gran Tierra common stock on any other stock exchange in Canada or in the United States. As a result, the price at which the exchangeable shares trade is expected to be based upon the market for such shares on the Toronto Stock Exchange, and the price at which the shares of Gran Tierra common stock trade is based upon the market for such shares on the American Stock Exchange and/or on the Toronto Stock Exchange. Although Gran Tierra believes that the market price of the exchangeable shares on the Toronto Stock Exchange and the market price of the Gran Tierra common stock on the American Stock Exchange and/or on the Toronto Stock Exchange should reflect essentially equivalent values, there can be no assurance that the market price of the Gran Tierra common stock will be identical, or even similar, to the market price of the exchangeable shares.

SPECIAL NOTE REGARDING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This prospectus contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or the Securities Act, and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, or the Exchange Act. This prospectus includes statements regarding our plans, goals, strategies, intent, beliefs or current expectations. These statements are expressed in good faith and based upon a reasonable basis when made, but there can be no assurance that these expectations will be achieved or accomplished. These forward looking statements can be identified by the use of terms and phrases such as “believe,” “plan,” “intend,” “anticipate,” “target,” “estimate,” “expect,” and like, and/or future-tense or conditional constructions “may,” “could,” “should,” etc. Items contemplating or making assumptions about, actual or potential future sales, market size, collaborations, and trends or operating results also constitute such forward-looking statements.

Although forward-looking statements in this prospectus reflect the good faith judgment of our management, forward-looking statements are inherently subject to known and unknown risks, business, economic and other risks and uncertainties that may cause actual results to be materially different from those discussed in these forward-looking statements. Readers are urged not to place undue reliance on these forward-looking statements, which speak only as of the date of this prospectus. We assume no obligation to update any forward-looking statements in order to reflect any event or circumstance that may arise after the date of this prospectus, other than as may be required by applicable law or regulation. Readers are urged to carefully review and consider the various disclosures made by us in our reports filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission which attempt to advise interested parties of the risks and factors that may affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows. If one or more of these risks or uncertainties materialize, or if the underlying assumptions prove incorrect, our actual results may vary materially from those expected or projected.

USE OF PROCEEDS

We will receive no net proceeds from the issuance of the shares of our common stock offered in this prospectus for issuance upon exchange or redemption of exchangeable shares.

Upon completion of the plan of arrangement, the Solana warrants will be exercisable, at an exercise price of approximately Cdn$2.10 per share of our common stock, for up to 7,145,938 shares of our common stock, assuming none of the warrants held by holders of Solana warrants elect to exercise their warrants prior to the Solana transaction, or have their warrants acquired for cash in the Solana transaction. As a result, we may receive up to Cdn$15 million (approximately US$12,932,150 assuming a Canadian/US dollar exchange rate of US$0.86 per one Canadian dollar, the noon buying rate of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York on October 14, 2008) in net cash proceeds in connection with the exercise of the Solana warrants if all such warrants are exercised, based on the assumption stated immediately above. If received, we will use any such proceeds for general corporate purposes. This offering is not being conducted for capital raising purposes, but rather to facilitate the completion of the Solana transaction.

PLAN OF DISTRIBUTION

We will distribute the shares of our common stock covered by this prospectus only upon:

· exchange or redemption of the exchangeable shares of Exchangeco, or

· exercise of the Solana warrants,

each as described below, and no broker, dealer or underwriter has been engaged in connection with the exchange, redemption or exercise of Solana warrants.

Exchangeable Shares

Optional Retraction of Exchangeable Shares

The exchangeable shares will be issued by Exchangeco in connection with the Solana transaction. If you become a holder of exchangeable shares, you will be entitled at any time to require Exchangeco to redeem, subject to the overriding retraction call right of another of our Canadian subsidiaries ("Callco"), any or all of your exchangeable shares for a price per exchangeable share equal to one share of our common stock and (provided that you hold the exchangeable share on the applicable dividend record date), on the payment date for any declared and unpaid dividends, an amount in cash equal to such dividends on that exchangeable share.

In order to exercise this right, you must deliver to Exchangeco at its registered office or at an office of Exchangeco's transfer agent, among other things, a written retraction request and the certificates representing the exchangeable shares to be redeemed. You must state in your request the business day on which you desire Exchangeco to redeem your exchangeable shares, which business day must be 10 to 15 business days after your request is received by Exchangeco. If you fail to specify a business day in your request, the retraction date will be the 15th business day after your request is received by Exchangeco.

If you exercise this retraction right to require that Exchangeco redeem any of your exchangeable shares, Callco will have an overriding retraction call right, which is Callco's right to purchase all but not less than all of those exchangeable shares for a price per exchangeable share equal to one share of corresponding Gran Tierra common stock and (provided that you hold the exchangeable share on the applicable dividend record date), on the payment date for any declared and unpaid dividends, an amount in cash equal to such dividends on that exchangeable share. Upon receipt of your retraction request, Exchangeco will immediately notify Callco, which must then advise Exchangeco within five business days as to whether it will exercise its retraction call right. If Callco does not so advise, Exchangeco will notify you as soon as possible thereafter that Callco will not exercise its retraction call right. If Callco advises Exchangeco that Callco will exercise its retraction call right within the five business day period, then the retraction request will be considered only to be an offer by you to sell the shares identified in your retraction request to Callco in accordance with Callco's retraction call right.

You may revoke your retraction request, in writing, at any time prior to the close of business one business day before the contemplated date of retraction, in which case the exchangeable shares identified in the retraction request will not be purchased by Callco or redeemed by Exchangeco. Unless you revoke your retraction request, the shares identified in the retraction request will be redeemed by Exchangeco or purchased by Callco, as the case may be, and Exchangeco or Callco, as the case may be, will send you (i) a certificate representing the aggregate number of corresponding shares of our common stock, and (ii) on the payment date therefor, a check in an amount equal to the amount of the declared and unpaid dividends, if any, on the retracted or purchased exchangeable shares with a record date prior to the date of retraction or purchase (as the case may be), less any amounts withheld on account of tax.

If, as a result of solvency requirements or applicable law, Exchangeco is not permitted to redeem all exchangeable shares identified in a retraction request, and Callco has not exercised its retraction call right, Exchangeco will redeem only those exchangeable shares tendered by you (rounded down to a whole number of shares) as would be permissible. In addition, if you do not revoke your retraction request, the retraction request will constitute notice from you to the trustee to exercise your exchange right under the voting and exchange trust agreement entered into by Gran Tierra, Exchangeco and a trustee in connection with the completion of the Solana transaction, which we refer to in this document as the “voting and exchange trust agreement,” and the trustee, on your behalf, will require Gran Tierra to purchase any exchangeable shares on the retraction date set forth in the retraction request

Redemption of Exchangeable Shares

On the redemption date for exchangeable shares, Exchangeco will, subject to Callco’s redemption call right, redeem all of its then outstanding exchangeable shares for a price per exchangeable share equal to one share of Gran Tierra common stock and (provided you hold the exchangeable share on the applicable dividend record date) on the payment date for any declared and unpaid dividends, an amount in cash equal to such dividends on that exchangeable share. Exchangeco will provide the registered holders of its exchangeable shares with at least 60 days prior written notice of the proposed redemption of the exchangeable shares by Exchangeco or the purchase of its exchangeable shares by Callco under the redemption call right described below.

Callco has an overriding right to purchase on the redemption date all of the outstanding exchangeable shares being redeemed (other than those held by Gran Tierra and its affiliates) for a price per exchangeable share equal to one share of corresponding Gran Tierra common stock and an amount in cash equal to the declared and unpaid dividends, if any, on that exchangeable share held by a holder on any dividend record date that occurred prior to the date of purchase of the share by Callco.

To exercise this redemption call right, Callco must notify the transfer agent and Exchangeco of Callco’s intention to exercise this right at least 60 days before the redemption date. The transfer agent will notify the holders of the exchangeable shares as to whether or not Callco has exercised its redemption call right after the expiry of the period during which Callco can exercise its redemption call right. If Callco exercises its redemption call right, it will purchase on the redemption date all of the exchangeable shares then outstanding (other than those held by Gran Tierra and its affiliates).

The “redemption date” is a date, if any, fixed by the Exchangeco board of directors after the date that is no earlier than the fifth anniversary of the date of the completion of the consolidation of Gran Tierra and Solana. If at any time (i) fewer than 25,285,358 exchangeable shares (other than exchangeable shares held by Gran Tierra or its affiliates) issued as a result of the Solana transaction are outstanding or (ii) the board of directors, in connection with certain actions described in the arrangement agreement, shall have determined that it is reasonable and practicable to redeem the exchangeable shares, the board of directors may elect to have Exchangeco redeem all but not less than all of the outstanding exchangeable shares.

On or after the redemption date, upon your delivery of the certificates representing the exchangeable shares and the other documents as may be required to an office of the transfer agent or the registered office of Gran Tierra, Exchangeco or Callco will deliver, for each exchangeable share, one share of Gran Tierra common stock and, on the payment date therefor, a check in an amount equal to the amount of the declared and unpaid dividends, if any, on the redeemed exchangeable shares, less any amounts withheld on account of tax.

Purchase for Cancellation

Subject to applicable law, Exchangeco may at any time and from time to time purchase for cancellation all or any part of the outstanding exchangeable shares.

Liquidation Rights with Respect to Exchangeco

In the event of the liquidation, dissolution or winding up of Exchangeco or other distribution of the assets of Exchangeco for the purpose of liquidating its affairs, you will have, subject to applicable law and Callco's overriding liquidation call right, preferential rights to receive from Exchangeco for each exchangeable share you hold one share of Gran Tierra common stock, and (provided you hold the exchangeable share on the applicable dividend record date) on the applicable payment date an amount in cash equal to the declared and unpaid dividends, if any, on that exchangeable share, less any amount withheld on account of tax. Upon the occurrence of a liquidation, dissolution or winding up, Callco will have an overriding liquidation call right to purchase all of the outstanding exchangeable shares (other than exchangeable shares held by Gran Tierra and its affiliates) from you on the liquidation date for the same consideration per share.

Upon the occurrence and during the continuance of an "insolvency event" (as defined in the following paragraph), you will be entitled to instruct the trustee under the voting and exchange trust agreement to exercise the exchange right with respect to any or all of the exchangeable shares you hold and require Gran Tierra to purchase these shares. As soon as practicable following the occurrence of an insolvency event or any event which may, with the passage of time and/or the giving of notice, become an insolvency event, Exchangeco and Gran Tierra must, under the voting and exchange trust agreement, give written notice to the trustee. As soon as practicable after receiving notice, the trustee will notify you of the insolvency event and will advise you of your rights with respect to the exchange right. The purchase price payable by Gran Tierra for each exchangeable share purchased under the exchange right will be equal to one corresponding share of Gran Tierra common stock and (provided you hold the exchangeable share on the applicable dividend record date) the amount of all declared and unpaid dividends, if any, on that exchangeable share, less any amount withheld on account of tax.

An “insolvency event” means:

- the institution by Exchangeco of any proceeding to be adjudicated a bankrupt or insolvent or to be wound up, or the consent of Exchangeco to the institution of bankruptcy, insolvency or winding-up proceedings against it;
- the filing of a petition, answer or consent seeking dissolution or winding-up under any bankruptcy, insolvency or analogous laws, including the Companies Creditors’ Arrangement Act (Canada) and the Bankruptcy and Insolvency Act (Canada), and the failure by Exchangeco to contest in good faith any such proceedings commenced in respect of Exchangeco within 30 days of becoming aware thereof, or the consent by Exchangeco to the filing of any such petition or to the appointment of a receiver;
- the making by Exchangeco of a general assignment for the benefit of creditors, or the admission in writing by Exchangeco of its inability to pay its debts generally as they become due; or
- Exchangeco not being permitted, under solvency requirements of applicable law, to redeem any retracted exchangeable shares under the provisions attaching to the exchangeable shares.

In addition, if, as a result of solvency requirements or applicable law, Exchangeco is not permitted to redeem all exchangeable shares identified in a retraction request, and Callco has not exercised its retraction call right, then the retraction request will constitute notice from you to the trustee to exercise your exchange right under the voting and exchange trust agreement and the trustee, on your behalf, will require Gran Tierra to purchase any exchangeable shares on the retraction date set forth in the retraction request.

Liquidation Rights with Respect to Gran Tierra

In order for the holders of exchangeable shares to participate on a pro rata basis with the holders of corresponding shares of Gran Tierra common stock, on the fifth business day prior to the effective date of a Gran Tierra liquidation event (a specified event relating to the voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution, winding up or other distribution of the assets of Gran Tierra among its shareholders for the purpose of winding up its affairs), each exchangeable share (other than those held by Gran Tierra and its affiliates) will automatically be exchanged for one share of Gran Tierra common stock and (provided you hold the exchangeable share on the applicable dividend record date), on the applicable payment date an amount in cash equal to the declared and unpaid dividends, if any, on that exchangeable share, less any amount withheld on account of tax. Upon your request and surrender of exchangeable share certificates, duly endorsed in blank and accompanied by those instruments of transfer that Gran Tierra may reasonably require, Gran Tierra will deliver to you certificates representing an equivalent number of corresponding shares of Gran Tierra common stock, plus (provided you hold the exchangeable share on the applicable dividend record date) a check for the amount of those dividends, if any, for the exchangeable shares exchanged by you under the automatic exchange right, less any amount withheld on account of tax.

Solana Warrants

As of September 5, 2008, warrants to purchase 7,500,000 shares of Solana common stock at an exercise price per share of Solana common stock of Cdn$2.00 were outstanding. Such warrants expire on April 2, 2010. The warrants may be exercised in whole or in part at any time prior to the expiration date of the warrants. All of these warrants that are not exercised or acquired for cash in or prior to the Solana transaction, will, after the completion of the Solana transaction, represent warrants to purchase shares of our common stock. We refer to these warrants as the Solana warrants.

Upon the closing of the Solana transaction, we will assume Solana’s obligations under all of the Solana warrants. After the closing, each warrant will be exercisable for a number of shares of our common stock equal to the product obtained by multiplying the number of shares of Solana common stock subject to such warrant by the exchange ratio (rounded down to a whole number of shares). The exercise price of each such warrant per share of our common stock will be equal to the exercise price per share of Solana common stock of such warrant immediately prior to the consummation of the plan of arrangement, divided by the exchange ratio. As a result, the exercise price of the Solana warrants will be approximately Cdn$2.10. The term to expiry, conditions to and the manner of exercising, vesting schedule and all other terms and conditions of such warrants are otherwise unchanged, and any document or agreement previously evidencing a Solana warrant evidences and is deemed to evidence the assumed warrant.

Assuming no warrants are exercised or acquired for cash in or prior to the Solana transaction, the Solana warrants will be exercisable for 7,145,938 shares of our common stock, subject to adjustment. The number of shares of our common stock issuable upon exercise of each Solana warrant is subject to adjustment if we subdivide, redivide or change our outstanding common stock into a greater number of shares or if we reduce, combine or consolidate our outstanding common stock into a smaller number of shares. In addition, if we otherwise reclassify our common stock or if we effect a capital reorganization, merger, amalgamation, consolidation or sell all or substantially all of our assets, each Solana warrant will, after the effective time of any such action or transaction, be exercisable for the number and type of shares, other securities or property that the holder of the Solana warrant would have been entitled to receive had the holder of the Solana warrant been the registered holder of the number of shares of our common stock issuable upon exercise of the Solana warrant on the record date or the effective date of any such transaction.

If we fix a record date for making a distribution or dividend of cash, Gran Tierra's shares of any class, rights options or warrants, evidence of indebtedness, or assets (including shares of other corporations) to all or substantially all the holders of our outstanding common stock, the holder of a Solana warrant shall be entitled to receive, upon exercise of such warrant, the amount of cash or the number and kind of shares, other securities or property the holder of the Solana warrant would have been entitled to receive had the holder of the Solana warrant been the registered holder of the number of shares of our common stock issuable upon exercise of the Solana warrant on such record date.

Additional Information

For a more detailed description of the exchangeable shares and Solana warrants, please see "Description of the Arrangement - Transaction Mechanics and Description of GTE-Solana Exchangeable Shares" and "Description of the Arrangement - Treatment of Warrants in the Joint Management Information Circular and Proxy Statement filed by Gran Tierra with the SEC on Schedule 14A on September 9, 2008, which is incorporated by reference in this prospectus. The terms on which shares of Gran Tierra common stock may be issued upon exchange or redemption of the exchangeable shares or upon exercise of the Solana warrants are set forth in the plan of arrangement, including the provisions attaching to the exchangeable shares as set forth in Exhibit A to the plan of arrangement, and certain provisions of the form of voting and exchange trust agreement, each of which is included as an exhibit to the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part. The description above of the terms on which shares of Gran Tierra common stock may be issued upon exchange or redemption of the exchangeable shares or upon exercise of the Solana warrants is qualified by reference to the plan of arrangement (including the provisions attaching to the exchangeable shares) and the form of voting and exchange trust agreement.

The support agreement entered into by Gran Tierra, Callco and Exchangeco provides, among other things, that we will take all actions and do all things reasonably necessary or desirable to enable and permit Exchangeco, in accordance with applicable law, to perform its obligations arising upon the liquidation, dissolution or winding-up of any other distribution of the assets of Exchangeco among its shareholders for the purpose of winding-up its affairs or in the event of a retraction demand by a holder of exchangeable shares or a redemption of exchangeable shares on the redemption date, as the case may be (including those obligations of Exchangeco described above). The form of the support agreement is included as an exhibit to the registration statement of which this prospectus is a part, and its description is qualified in its entirety by reference thereto.

We will pay all expenses incurred in connection with the distribution described in this prospectus.

INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES

CANADIAN FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES

In the opinion of Blake, Cassels & Graydon LLP, Canadian counsel to Gran Tierra, the following is a description of the principal Canadian federal income tax consequences pursuant to the Tax Act generally applicable to holders of exchangeable shares who exchange their exchangeable shares for shares of Gran Tierra common stock in a retraction (a voluntary exchange initiated by a holder of exchangeable shares), redemption (an exchange initiated by Exchangeco to redeem the exchangeable shares) or purchase (a purchase of exchangeable shares by Exchangeco for cancellation) pursuant to the terms set forth in the Provisions Attaching to the Exchangeable Shares (Schedule A in the Plan of Arrangement), and who, at all relevant times for the purposes of the Tax Act, are, for the purposes of the Tax Act and any applicable income tax treaty or convention, resident or deemed to be resident in Canada, hold such shares as capital property and deal at arm's length with each of Exchangeco and Gran Tierra ("Resident Shareholders"). Generally, such shares will constitute capital property to a holder provided such holder does not hold such property in the course of carrying on a business and has not acquired such property in one or more transactions considered to be an adventure or concern in the nature of trade. Shareholders who do not hold their exchangeable shares or shares of Gran Tierra common stock as capital property, as the case may be, should consult their own tax advisors with respect to their particular circumstances.

This opinion is not applicable to a holder that is a "financial institution" for purposes of the mark-to-market rules contained in the Tax Act, a holder that is a "specified financial institution", a holder an interest in which is a "tax shelter" or a "tax shelter investment", or a holder with respect to whom Gran Tierra is a "foreign affiliate", each as defined in the Tax Act, a holder who is exempt from paying tax under Part I of the Tax Act, or a holder to whom the functional currency reporting rules contained in subsection 261(4) of the Tax Act would apply. Any such holders should consult their own tax advisors.

This opinion is based upon the provisions of the Tax Act in force as of the date hereof, all specific proposals to amend the Tax Act that have been publicly announced by or on behalf of the Minister of Finance (Canada) prior to the date hereof (the "Proposed Amendments"), and counsel's understanding, based on publicly available published materials, of the current administrative policies and assessing practices of the Canada Revenue Agency ("CRA").

This opinion does not cover all possible Canadian federal income tax consequences and, except for the Proposed Amendments, does not take into account any changes in the law, whether by legislative, regulatory or judicial action, or any changes in the administrative policies and assessing practices of the CRA, nor does it take into account provincial, territorial or foreign tax legislation or considerations, which may differ significantly from those discussed herein.

This opinion does not address any tax consequences to holders that are not resident (or deemed resident) in Canada, such as U.S. residents.

All holders of exchangeable shares should consult their own tax advisors having regard to their particular circumstances.

For purposes of the Tax Act, all amounts relating to the acquisition, holding or disposition of shares of Gran Tierra common stock, including the receipt of dividends and the calculation of any adjusted cost base amounts and proceeds of disposition, must be converted into Canadian dollars based on the prevailing United States dollar exchange rate at the time such amounts arise.

Redemption, Retraction or Purchase of Exchangeable Shares

On the redemption (retraction or purchase) of an exchangeable share by Exchangeco, Resident Shareholders will be deemed to have received a dividend equal to the amount, if any, by which the redemption, retraction or purchase proceeds exceed the paid-up capital at the time of the exchangeable share so redeemed. For these purposes, the redemption proceeds will be the fair market value of the shares of Gran Tierra common stock (or other consideration) received from Exchangeco at the time of the redemption, retraction or purchase plus the amount, if any, of all then accrued but unpaid dividends on the exchangeable shares paid on the redemption, retraction or purchase. Such deemed dividend will be included in computing the shareholder's income, and will be generally be subject to the gross-up and dividend tax credit rules normally applicable to taxable dividends received from taxable Canadian corporations under the Tax Act. In the case of a Resident Shareholder that is a corporation, such deemed dividend normally would be included in the corporation's income and would be deductible in computing its taxable income. A Resident Shareholder that is a "private corporation", as defined in the Tax Act, or any other corporation resident in Canada and controlled or deemed to be controlled by or for the benefit of an individual or a related group of individuals may be liable under Part IV of the Tax Act to pay a refundable tax of $33\frac{1}{3}\%$ of such deemed dividend to the extent that such dividend is deductible in computing the shareholder's taxable income. A Resident Shareholder that is throughout the relevant taxation year a "Canadian-controlled private corporation", as defined in the Tax Act, may be liable to pay an additional refundable tax of $6\frac{2}{3}\%$ on its "aggregate investment income" for the year which will include deemed dividends that are not deductible in computing taxable income.

On a redemption, retraction or purchase, the holder of an exchangeable share will also be considered to have disposed of the exchangeable share, but the amount of the deemed dividend will be excluded in computing the holder's proceeds of disposition for purposes of computing any capital gain or capital loss arising on the disposition. In the case of a Resident Shareholder that is a corporation, in some circumstances, the amount of any such deemed dividend may be treated as proceeds of disposition and not as a dividend. The taxation of capital gains and capital losses is described below.

Exchange of Exchangeable Shares

On the exchange by a Resident Shareholder of an exchangeable share with Gran Tierra or Callco for a share of Gran Tierra common stock, the shareholder will generally realize a capital gain (or a capital loss) equal to the amount by which the proceeds of disposition of the exchangeable share, net of any reasonable costs of disposition, exceed (or are less than) the adjusted cost base to the holder of the exchangeable share immediately before the exchange. For these purposes, the proceeds of disposition will be the fair market value at the time of exchange of the share of Gran Tierra common stock plus any other amount received by the holder from Gran Tierra or a subsidiary of Gran Tierra as part of the exchange consideration other than amounts required to be included in income as a dividend. The taxation of capital gains and capital losses is described below.

Dividends on Gran Tierra Common Stock

Dividends on shares of Gran Tierra common stock will be included in a Resident Shareholder's income for the purposes of the Tax Act. Such dividends received by an individual shareholder will not be subject to the gross-up and dividend tax credit rules in the Tax Act. A Resident Shareholder that is a corporation will include such dividends in computing its income and generally will not be entitled to deduct the amount of such dividends in computing its taxable income. A shareholder that is throughout the relevant taxation year a "Canadian-controlled private corporation", as defined in the Tax Act, may be liable to pay an additional refundable tax of 6 % on its "aggregate investment income" for the year which will include such dividends. United States non-resident withholding tax on such dividends received by Canadian residents will be generally eligible for foreign tax credit or deduction treatment, where applicable, under the Tax Act.

Disposition of Gran Tierra Shares

The cost of shares of Gran Tierra common stock received on a retraction, redemption or exchange of exchangeable shares will be equal to the fair market value of such shares at the time of such event. The adjusted cost base to a Resident Shareholder of shares of Gran Tierra common stock acquired on a retraction, redemption or exchange of exchangeable shares will be determined by averaging the cost of such shares with the adjusted cost base of all other shares of Gran Tierra common stock held by such holder as capital property immediately before the retraction, redemption or exchange, as the case may be. A disposition or deemed disposition of shares of Gran Tierra common stock by a holder will generally result in a capital gain (or a capital loss) equal to the amount by which the proceeds of disposition, net of any reasonable costs of disposition, exceed (or are less than) the adjusted cost base to the holder of such shares immediately before the disposition. The taxation of capital gains and capital losses is described below.

Taxation of Capital Gains and Capital Losses

One-half of any capital gain (a taxable capital gain) realized on a disposition of shares must be included in a Resident Shareholder's income for the year of disposition. One-half of any capital loss (an allowable capital loss) generally may be deducted by the Resident Shareholder against taxable capital gains for the year of disposition. Any allowable capital losses in excess of taxable capital gains for the year of disposition generally may be carried back up to three taxation years or carried forward indefinitely and deducted against taxable capital gains in such other years to the extent and under the circumstances described in the Tax Act.

Capital gains realized by an individual or trust, other than certain specified trusts, may give rise to alternative minimum tax under the Tax Act.

A Resident Shareholder that is throughout the relevant taxation year a "Canadian-controlled private corporation", as defined in the Tax Act, may be liable to pay an additional refundable tax of 6 % on its "aggregate investment income" for the year which will include an amount in respect of taxable capital gains.

If a Resident Shareholder is a corporation, the amount of any capital loss arising from a disposition or deemed disposition of shares may be reduced by the amount of dividends received or deemed to have been received by it on such shares to the extent and under circumstances prescribed by the Tax Act. Similar rules may apply where a corporation is a member of a partnership or a beneficiary of a trust that owns shares or where a trust or partnership of which a corporation is a beneficiary or a member is a member of a partnership or a beneficiary of a trust that owns shares. Resident Shareholders to whom these rules may be relevant should consult their own tax advisors.

Foreign Property Information Reporting

A Resident Shareholder that is a "specified Canadian entity" for a taxation year or a fiscal period and whose total cost amount of "specified foreign property" at any time in the year or fiscal period exceeds Cdn$100,000 will be required to file an information return for the year or period disclosing prescribed information in respect of such property, such as the cost amount of such property and the amount of any dividends, interest and gains or losses realized in the year in respect of such property. Subject to certain exceptions, a taxpayer resident in Canada in the year will be a specified Canadian entity. Specified foreign property is defined in the Tax Act to include shares of the capital stock of a non-resident corporation and property that, under the terms or conditions thereof or any agreement related thereto, is convertible into, exchangeable for or confers a right to acquire, property that is a share of the capital stock of a non-resident corporation.

The exchangeable shares and shares of Gran Tierra common stock will be/are specified foreign property. As a result, if the aggregate cost amount of any specified foreign property held by a Resident Shareholder (including any exchangeable shares and shares of Gran Tierra common stock) at any time in a taxation year or fiscal period exceeds Cdn$100,000, the Resident Shareholder will be required to file an information return for the year as described above. Resident Shareholders are encouraged to consult their own tax advisors as to whether they must file an information return under these rules.

Foreign Investment Entity Status

Bill C-10, which received second reading in the Senate and was referred to the Banking, Trade and Commerce Committee on December 4, 2007, will amend the Tax Act (if passed by the Senate and enacted in their current form) in relation to the income tax treatment of investments by Canadian residents in non-resident entities that constitute "foreign investment entities" (each, a "FIE") applicable for taxation years commencing after 2006 (the "FIE Tax Rules"). In general terms, the FIE Tax Rules, as currently drafted, would apply to require a Resident Shareholder that holds a "participating interest" (that is not an "exempt interest") in a non-resident entity that is a FIE at the entity's taxation year-end to take into account in computing the Resident Shareholder's income for the Resident Shareholder's taxation year that includes such taxation year-end: (i) an amount based on a prescribed rate of return on the "designated cost" of such participating interest held by the Resident Shareholder at the end of each month ending in the Resident Shareholder's taxation year at which time the participating interest is held by the Resident Shareholder; (ii) in certain limited circumstances, any gains or losses accrued on such participating interest for the year; or (iii) in certain limited circumstances, the Resident Shareholder's proportionate share of the FIE's income (or loss) for the year calculated using Canadian tax rules.

The shares of Gran Tierra common stock would constitute an "exempt interest" to a Resident Shareholder so long as (i) they qualified as an "arm's length interest" (as defined under the FIE Tax Rules) to the Resident Shareholder (ii) they are listed on a designated stock exchange and (iii) it is reasonable to conclude that the Resident Shareholder has no tax avoidance motive. The determination of whether a Resident Shareholder will have a tax avoidance motive in respect of the shares of Gran Tierra common stock within the meaning of the FIE Tax Rules will depend on the particular circumstances of the Resident Shareholder. Resident Shareholders should consult their own tax advisors regarding the determination of whether they have such a tax avoidance motive. The shares of Gran Tierra common stock will generally qualify as an "arm's length interest" at any time for the purposes of the FIE Tax Rules if (i) it is reasonable to conclude that there are at least 150 persons each of which holds at that time shares of Gran Tierra common stock having a total market value of at least $500 (ii) it is reasonable to conclude that the shares of Gran Tierra common stock can normally be acquired and sold by members of the public in the open market and (iii) the aggregate fair market value at that time of the shares of Gran Tierra common stock that are held by the Resident Shareholder, or an entity or individual with whom the Resident Shareholder does not deal at arm's length, does not exceed 10% of the aggregate fair market value of all of the shares of Gran Tierra common stock at that time.

The FIE Tax Rules are complex and have been subject to extensive amendments. No assurances can be given that these provisions will be enacted in the form proposed. Resident Shareholders should consult their own tax advisors regarding the application of the FIE Tax Rules to their particular circumstances.

MATERIAL U.S. FEDERAL INCOME TAX CONSEQUENCES OF THE RETRACTION, REDEMPTION OR PURCHASE OF EXCHANGEABLE SHARES

The following discussion represents the opinion of Cooley Godward Kronish LLP, U.S. counsel to Gran Tierra, with respect to the material U.S. federal income tax consequences to holders of exchangeable shares who exchange their exchangeable shares for shares of Gran Tierra common stock in a retraction (a voluntary exchange initiated by a holder of exchangeable shares), redemption (an exchange initiated by Exchangeco to redeem the exchangeable shares) or purchase (a purchase of exchangeable shares by Exchangeco for cancellation) pursuant to the terms set forth in the Provisions Attaching to the Exchangeable Shares (Schedule A in the Plan of Arrangement). There is no direct authority under current U.S. federal income tax law on whether the exchangeable shares should be treated as shares of Exchangeco stock or shares of Gran Tierra common stock. Due to this lack of authority, the opinion of Cooley Godward Kronish LLP discusses the material U.S. federal income tax consequences based on the alternative treatments of the exchangeable shares. There can be no assurances that the Internal Revenue Service will not assert and prevail with a position that is adverse or contrary to the position taken by a holder.

This discussion does not address any tax consequences arising under the income or other tax laws of any state, local or foreign jurisdiction or any tax treaties. It is based on the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, or the Code, applicable Treasury Regulations, and administrative and judicial interpretations thereof, each as in effect as of the date hereof, all of which may change, possibly with retroactive effect. Any such change could affect the accuracy of the statements and conclusions discussed below and the tax consequences of a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction.

This discussion assumes that holders of exchangeable shares hold their shares as capital assets. Except as expressly indicated below, this discussion does not address the consequences of a retraction, or redemption or purchase transaction to any person that is not a U.S. Holder as defined below. This discussion does not address all tax consequences that may be relevant to particular holders in light of their individual circumstances, or the tax consequences to holders subject to special tax rules, including, without limitation:

- banks, insurance companies and other financial institutions;
- broker-dealers;
- traders;
- tax-exempt organizations;
- persons who are or will be subject to the alternative minimum tax;
- persons who will hold exchangeable shares as a position in a “straddle” or as part of a hedging,” “conversion” or other risk reduction transaction;
- persons that have a functional currency other than the U.S. dollar;
- persons who own, or are deemed to own, 10% or more, determined by voting power or value, of the exchangeable shares;
- persons who acquire their exchangeable shares in exchange for Solano common shares that were acquired through share option or share purchase programs or other compensation arrangements; and
- any person that will hold its exchangeable shares through a partnership or other pass-through entity.

No ruling has been or will be sought from the Internal Revenue Service as to the tax consequences of a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction, and the following discussion is not binding on the Internal Revenue Service or the courts. As noted above, there is no definitive guidance under current U.S. tax law regarding the proper characterization of the exchangeable shares and their ancillary rights for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The Internal Revenue Service could adopt a position that will have adverse tax consequences for a holder and that adverse position could be sustained by a court.

We urge each person who will become a holder of exchangeable shares to consult his or her own tax advisor regarding the U.S. federal income tax consequences of a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction to such holder.

For purposes of this discussion, a “U.S. Holder” means a person who will become a holder of exchangeable shares that is:

- a citizen or resident of the United States;
- a corporation (or an entity treated as a corporation for U.S. federal income tax purposes) created or organized in or under the laws of the United States or any State or the District of Columbia;
- an estate the income of which is subject to U.S. federal income taxation regardless of its source; or
- a trust if it has validly elected to be treated as a U.S. person for U.S. federal income tax purposes or if a U.S. court can exercise primary supervision over its administration, and one or more U.S. persons have the authority to control all of its substantial decisions.

A “Non-U.S. Holder” is a holder other than a U.S. Holder.

If a partnership or other pass-through entity holds exchangeable shares, the tax treatment of a member of the partnership or other pass-through entity will depend upon the status of the member and the activities of the partnership or other entity. Partnerships and other pass-through entities holding exchangeable shares and their owners, should consult their tax advisors regarding the tax consequences of a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction to them.

Consequences of a Retraction, Redemption or Purchase Transaction

The U.S. federal income tax consequences of a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction to U.S. Holders will depend on whether the exchangeable shares together with their ancillary rights are treated as shares of Exchangeco stock or shares of Gran Tierra common stock for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The exchangeable shares and their ancillary rights will be substantially equivalent to shares of Gran Tierra common stock because the exchangeable shares will (i) have economic rights (e.g., the right to dividends and liquidating distributions) and legal rights (e.g., voting rights) that are substantially similar to the economic and legal rights of shares of Gran Tierra common stock, and (ii) be allowed to convert, or forced to convert under certain circumstances (e.g., the liquidation of Exchangeco or the passage of five years from the closing of the arrangement) into shares of Gran Tierra common stock at a price that will result in a holder receiving the same number of shares of Gran Tierra common stock (adjusted for stock splits and stock dividends) that the holder would have received at the time the arrangement was closed had the holder exchanged Solano Shares for shares of Gran Tierra common stock in accordance with terms of the arrangement agreement.

There is no direct authority addressing the proper characterization of financial instruments with characteristics similar to the exchangeable shares and their ancillary rights for U.S. federal income tax purposes. As a consequence, it is not possible under existing U.S. tax law to definitively determine whether the exchangeable shares will be treated as shares of Exchangeco stock (in which case a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction should be a taxable transaction) or shares of Gran Tierra common stock (in which case a retraction, redemption, or purchase transaction should not be a taxable transaction) for U.S. federal income tax purposes.

If the Exchangeable Shares are Treated as Shares of Gran Tierra Common Stock

If the exchangeable shares and their ancillary rights are treated as shares of Gran Tierra common stock for U.S. federal income tax purposes, a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction (in which exchangeable shares are exchanged for shares of Gran Tierra common stock) should not be a taxable event and no gain or loss should be recognized for U.S. federal income tax purposes by U.S. Holders and Non-U.S. Holders.

If the Exchangeable Shares are not Treated as Shares of Gran Tierra Common Stock

U.S. Holders. If the exchangeable shares and their ancillary rights are not treated as shares of Gran Tierra common stock for U.S. federal income tax purposes, then subject to the discussion below in the section entitled “Passive Foreign Investment Companies”, a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction will, subject to the limitations discussed below, have the following tax consequences:

- The U.S. Holder will recognize capital gain or loss equal to the difference between (i) the fair market value of the shares of Gran Tierra common stock received and (ii) the holder’s adjusted tax basis in the exchangeable shares surrendered;
- The aggregate tax basis in the shares of Gran Tierra common stock received by the U.S. Holder will generally equal the fair market value of such shares; and
- The holding period in the shares of Gran Tierra common stock received by the U.S. Holder will begin the day after the retraction, redemption or purchase transaction.

Gain or loss recognized will be long-term capital gain or loss if the holder’s holding period for the exchangeable shares surrendered exceeds one year on the day of the retraction, redemption or purchase transaction. The recognition and the deductibility of capital losses are subject to limitations. U.S. Holders who acquired multiple blocks of exchangeable shares at different prices or different times should consult their tax advisors concerning the allocation of basis and holding period among such shares.

Non-U.S. Holders. If the exchangeable shares are not treated as shares of Exchangeco stock for U.S. federal income tax purposes, gain or loss will be recognized on a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction. A Non-U.S. Holder generally will not be subject to U.S. federal income tax on gain recognized on the exchange of exchangeable shares for shares of Gran Tierra common stock unless (i) the gain is effectively connected with a trade or business conducted by such holder in the United States, or (ii) in the case of a Non-U.S. Holder who is a non resident alien individual, such individual is present in the United States for 183 or more days in the taxable year of the disposition and certain other conditions are met. The recognition and the deductibility of a capital loss may be subject to limitations.

If you are a Non-U.S. Holder with gain described in (i) above, you may be required to pay tax on the net gain derived from the exchange at regular graduated U.S. federal income tax rates, and corporate Non-U.S. Holders with gain described in (i) above may be subject to the branch profits tax at a statutory rate of 30%. If you are an individual Non-U.S. Holder described in (ii) above, you may be required to pay a flat 30% tax on gain derived from the exchange.

U.S. Holders of exchangeable shares should consider that the U.S. Internal Revenue Service may assert and prevail with a position that is adverse to the position taken by a U.S. Holder. Although an opinion of counsel is provided regarding the material U.S. federal income tax consequences of a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction if such transactions are either taxable or non-taxable transactions, it may be prudent for U.S. Holders that would be subject to U.S. federal income tax on gain inherent in their exchangeable shares to assume that a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction will be a taxable event. Conversely, U.S. Holders that would recognize a loss for U.S. federal income tax purposes if a redemption, retraction or purchase transaction is a taxable event should consider that their disposition of exchangeable shares may not be a taxable event and no losses will be recognized.

Passive Foreign Investment Companies

In general, if exchangeable shares held by a U.S. Holder are treated as shares of Exchangeco stock and as shares of a “passive foreign investment company”, gain recognized on the retraction, redemption or purchase of exchangeable shares will be taxed under the passive foreign investment company “excess distribution regime,” unless the U.S. Holder made a timely “qualified electing fund” election or “mark-to-market” election. Under the excess distribution regime, federal income tax on gain recognized would be calculated by allocating the gain ratably to each day in the U.S. Holder’s holding period. Gain allocated to years preceding the first year in which Exchangeco was a passive foreign investment company in the U.S. Holder’s holding period and gain allocated to the year in which the retraction, redemption or purchase of the shares occurred, would be treated as gain arising in the such year and taxed as ordinary income. Gain allocated to all other years would be taxed at the highest ordinary income tax rate in effect for each of those years. Interest would be calculated and added to the tax due as if the tax was due and payable with the tax returns filed by the U.S. Holder for those years.

Exchangeco will be classified as a passive foreign investment company for any taxable year in which either: (a) 75 percent or more of its gross income was passive income; or (b) 50 percent or more of the value of its average assets consisted of assets that produced, or were held for the production of, passive income (passive assets for this purpose includes cash and cash equivalents held as working capital). Subject to certain limited exceptions, exchangeable shares held by a U.S. Holder at any time during a taxable year in which Exchangeco is a passive foreign investment company will be treated as shares of a passive foreign investment company in the hands of the holder for all subsequent years even though Exchangeco does not meet the gross income or passive asset thresholds necessary to be classified as a passive foreign investment company in a subsequent year. Based on current estimates of Exchangeco’s gross income and gross assets and the nature of its business, Exchangeco believes it will not be classified as a passive foreign investment company in the current year. The status of Exchangeco in future years however, will depend on its income, assets and activities in those years.

The passive foreign investment company rules are extremely complex and could, if they apply, have significant adverse effects on the taxation of gains recognized by a U.S. Holder. Accordingly, U.S. Holders are strongly urged to consult their tax advisors to determine the potential application of the passive foreign investment company rules to their particular circumstances and any elections available for alternative treatment under such rules.

Information Reporting Requirements and Backup Withholding

Pursuant to tax treaties or certain other agreements, the U.S. Internal Revenue Service may make its reports available to tax authorities in the recipient's country of residence.

Certain noncorporate holders of exchangeable shares may be subject to backup withholding, currently at a 28% rate, on amounts received pursuant to a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction. Backup withholding generally will not apply, however, to a holder of exchangeable shares who:

- furnishes a correct taxpayer identification number and certifies that he, she or it is not subject to backup withholding on the substitute Internal Revenue Service Form W-9 (or successor form) included in the letter of transmittal to be delivered to the holders of exchangeable shares following a retraction, redemption or purchase transaction;
- provides a certification of foreign status on Internal Revenue Service Form W-8BEN or other appropriate form; or
- is otherwise exempt from backup withholding.

Any amounts withheld under the backup withholding rules may be eligible for a refund or allowed as a credit against a holder's U.S. federal income tax liability, provided the holder furnishes the required information to the Internal Revenue Service.
