Certain of the underwriters may make the notes available for distribution on the internet through a third-party system operated by Market Axess Inc., an internet-based communications technology provider. Market Axess Inc. is providing the system for communications between such underwriters and their customers and is not a party to any transactions. Market Axess Inc., a registered broker-dealer, will receive compensation from certain of the underwriters based on transactions that the underwriters conduct through the system. Such underwriters will make the notes available to their customers through the internet distributions on the same terms as distributions made through other channels.

The last paragraph before the United States Alien Holders section on page S-33 of the Prospectus Supplement, dated April 25, 2003, to the Prospectus, dated April 25, 2003, is amended to read in its entirety as follows:

Capital gain of a noncorporate United States holder, that is realized before January 1, 2009, is generally taxed at a maximum rate of 15% where the property is held more than one year.

Prudential Financial, Inc. estimates that its share of the total offering expenses, excluding underwriting discounts and commissions paid to the underwriters will be approximately $139,000. The underwriters have agreed to pay a portion of the expenses of Prudential Financial, Inc. in connection with the issuance of the notes.
