NEWS RELEASE FROM HARMONY

5 November 2004

Harmony files notification with Competition Commission

Despite further delaying tactics by the Board of Gold Fields Limited ( Gold Fields ), Harmony has finally received permission to notify as a separate party in its bid for all of Gold Fields after applying to make its submissions almost two weeks ago. In addition, Gold Fields has lodged an urgent interdict against us around the Early Settlement Offer with the Tribunal, which will be heard 12 November 2004.

In the case of an unsolicited offer, explained Harmony lawyer Jean Meijer, a partner at CliffeDekker, the acquiring firm must apply to the Commission for permission to file separate notification of the merger. On receipt of the notification, the Commission will advise the target firm of the notification and give directions to the target firm on how to comply with the notification requirements. If the target firm fails to comply with the directions within 10 business days, the acquiring firm may apply to the Commission for permission to file on behalf of the target firm.

We are required to give guidance to the Competition Commission about the impact our merger with Gold Fields could have on employment. We believe that no more than 1000-1500 jobs will be lost and these will take place at a management level, said Harmony CE Bernard Swanepoel.

Harmony's merger filing details that the company expects to have to retrench no more than 1.01% of the workers in the combined company.

The Harmony Way means that the company strives to flatten management and empower those working on the mines. Harmony therefore does not have intermediate or regional structures between the chief executive officer and the mine managers, plant managers and service managers. This will be the main cause of retrenchments, together with the duplication in head office structures.

Harmony has saved 48 000 jobs working in mines that other companies would have closed down. The communities of Welkom, Virginia and Odendalsrus, for instance, would have suffered exacerbated unemployment if traditional mining methods were employed where Gold Fields previously mined, said Bernard.

The notification requirements are only fulfilled after the Commission has received all the requisite information from both the acquiring and the target firms. The initial period for the consideration of the merger does not start until such time as the merger parties have complied with the notification requirements.

We hope that Gold Fields management does not continue on its path of delaying our offer to their shareholders at the Commission and that they file their notification in a reasonable time period, said Bernard.

The proposed transaction is categorised as a large merger in terms of the Competition Act No. 89 of 1998. The Commission has 40 business days to investigate the merger and make a recommendation to the Competition Tribunal. The Commission may apply to the Tribunal for an extension of the time period, provided that the Tribunal may not grant an extension of more than 15 business days at a time. The registrar of the Tribunal must schedule a date for the hearing or the pre-hearing within 10 business days of receipt of the Commission's recommendation.

After holding a public hearing in relation to the merger, the Tribunal must approve the merger, approve the merger subject to conditions or prohibit implementation of the merger. In reaching its decision, the Tribunal must consider whether the merger is likely to substantially prevent or lessen competition and must consider whether the merger can or cannot be justified on substantial public interest grounds and, in particular: the impact of the merger on a particular industrial sector or region; employment; the ability of small businesses or firms controlled or owned by historically disadvantaged person, to become competitive; and the ability of national industries to compete in international markets.
