Chief Business Officer

The recipients of the restricted stock have voting and dividend rights. The shares of restricted stock are held by the Company in escrow until specified selling restrictions expire. The recipients cannot sell or transfer the shares of restricted stock (except by will or by the laws of descent and distribution) until the specified restriction periods expire. For each recipient the restriction on transfer will expire for one-third of the restricted shares awarded on the next three anniversaries of the date of grant. If a recipient's service with the Company terminates for any reason, any shares that remain subject to the selling restrictions because the applicable restriction period has not expired are automatically reconveyed to the Company for no cash or other consideration. In the event a recipient is entitled to receive a severance payment under the terms of the Change in Control Severance Compensation Policy adopted by the Company in August 2011, any period of restriction on transfer that has not lapsed will accelerate and lapse immediately prior to the termination of continuous service on the terms set forth in the Change in Control Severance Compensation Policy.
