CAUTIONARY STATEMENT REGARDING FORWARD LOOKING STATEMENTS

Matters discussed in this report may constitute forward-looking statements. The Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 provides safe harbor protections for forward-looking statements in order to encourage companies to provide prospective information about their business. Forward-looking statements include statements concerning plans, objectives, goals, strategies, future events or performance, and underlying assumptions and other statements, which are other than statements of historical facts.

The Company desires to take advantage of the safe harbor provisions of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 and are including this cautionary statement in connection with this safe harbor legislation. This report and any other written or oral statements made by the Company or on its behalf may include forward-looking statements, which reflect the Company's current views with respect to future events and financial performance. When used in this report, the words anticipate, believe, expect, intend, estimate, forecast, project, plan, potential, may, and other similar expressions identify forward-looking statements.

The forward-looking statements in this report are based upon various assumptions, many of which are based, in turn, upon further assumptions, including without limitation, management's examination of historical operating trends, data contained in the Company's records and other data available from third parties. Important assumptions relating to the forward-looking statements include, among other things, assumptions regarding demand for the Company's products, the cost and availability of refined marine fuel from suppliers, pricing levels, the timing and cost of capital expenditures, competitive conditions, and general economic conditions. These assumptions could prove inaccurate. Although the Company believes that these assumptions were reasonable when made, because these assumptions are inherently subject to significant uncertainties and contingencies which are difficult or impossible to predict and are beyond the Company's control, the Company cannot assure you that it will achieve or accomplish these expectations, beliefs or projections.

In addition to these assumptions and matters discussed elsewhere herein, important factors that, in the Company's view, could cause actual results to differ materially from those discussed in the forward-looking statements include:

our failure to comply with restrictions and financial maintenance covenants in our credit agreements and our ability to obtain waivers for such non-compliance; contraction of the global credit market and our ability to obtain financing; successful integration of business acquisitions;

our future operating or financial results;

the occurrence of terrorist attacks, piracy, and international hostilities affecting the shipping industry;

our ability to retain and attract senior management and other key employees;

our ability to manage growth;

our ability to maintain our business in light of our proposed business and location expansion;

the outcome of legal, tax or regulatory proceedings to which we may become a party; adverse conditions in the shipping or the marine fuel supply industries;

our ability to retain key suppliers and key customers;

our contracts and licenses with governmental entities remaining in full force and effect; material disruptions in the availability or supply of crude oil or refined petroleum products; changes in the market price of petroleum, including the volatility of spot pricing; increased levels of competition;

compliance or lack of compliance with various environmental and other applicable laws and regulations;

our ability to collect accounts receivable; changes in the political, economic or regulatory conditions in the markets in which we operate, and the world in general;

our future, pending or recent acquisitions, business strategy, areas of possible expansion and expected capital spending or operating expenses;

our failure to hedge certain financial risks associated with our business;

uninsured losses;

our ability to maintain our current tax treatment;

increases in interest rates; and other important factors described from time to time in our filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission, or the Commission.

These forward-looking statements should be considered in light of the information included in this report and the documents incorporated by reference herein, including the information under the heading "Risk Factors" in the Company's Annual Report on Form 20-F for the year ended December 31, 2013. The Company undertakes no obligation to update or revise any forward-looking statements.
