Item 8.01 Other Events.

On May 8, 2012, the company clarified that, as previously announced, its subsidiary, DePuy Orthopaedics, Inc., received a binding offer from Biomet, Inc. in the fiscal second quarter of 2012 to acquire DePuy Orthopaedics, Inc.'s trauma business. This transaction is subject to the signing of a definitive purchase agreement by DePuy Orthopaedics, Inc. and regulatory approvals. This transaction is expected to close in the second quarter of 2012.

(This communication contains "forward-looking statements" as defined in the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995. The reader is cautioned not to rely on these forward-looking statements. These statements are based on current expectations of future events. If underlying assumptions prove inaccurate or unknown risks or uncertainties materialize, actual results could vary materially from the expectations and projections of Johnson & Johnson. Risks and uncertainties include, but are not limited to, the satisfaction of closing conditions for the transaction, including receipt of regulatory approvals for the transaction, and the possibility that the transaction will not be completed, or if completed, will not be completed in the expected timeframe. A further list and description of these risks, uncertainties and other factors and the general risks associated with Johnson & Johnson can be found in Exhibit 99 of Johnson & Johnson's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended January 1, 2012. Copies of this Form 10-K, as well as subsequent filings, are available online at www.sec.gov, www.jnj.com, or on request from Johnson & Johnson. Johnson & Johnson does not undertake to update any forward-looking statements as a result of new information or future events or developments.)
