Edgar Filing: L3 TECHNOLOGIES, INC. - Form 425

Filed by: Harris Corporation Commission File No. 1-3863 Pursuant to Rule 425 under the Securities Act of 1933 and deemed filed pursuant to Rule 14a-12 under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 Subject Company: L3 Technologies, Inc. Commission File No. 1-37975 IMO Icebreaker: Charlie Roberts and Andy Zogg on Being Customers' First Choice How do you combine the talent and assets of more than 400 locations in over 100 countries and still manage to stay agile and meet or exceed customer expectations every day? That is the challenge – and opportunity – that Integration Management Office (IMO) Operations Leads Charlie Roberts and Andy Zogg are tackling as they plan to integrate the L3 Harris operations team. “We want our customers to be confident that this integration will be done with their best interests in mind,” agree Roberts and Zogg, both of whom are defense industry veterans with extensive integration experience. Roberts is Vice President of Operations at Harris; Zogg is Senior Vice President and COO of L3’s ISR Systems segment. They both strive to facilitate strong execution by delivering operational efficiencies that will help L3 Harris Technologies provide best-in-class solutions across space, air, land, sea and cyber domains. This includes becoming more innovative and affordable, which will allow additional investment in technology and drive down costs. Their strategic approach in planning for the merger is three-pronged: (1) Geography – planning for the integration of certain operations that are in close proximity where it makes good business sense; (2) Business alignment – preparing to align solutions around areas of expertise that support the business segments and customer needs; and (3) Functional excellence – developing ways to drive optimal performance across locations doing similar work. “So far, the process and policy commonalities we’ve identified outweigh the differences in how our two companies have operated up to now,” says Roberts. “Our site visits continue to reveal centers of excellence to establish new best practices across our segments post close.” Zogg and Roberts have visited about 15 sites and plan to travel to more in the coming months. During these visits, they work closely with the Facilities team to coordinate operational priorities within real estate and facility parameters. In addition to meeting with site managers, the visits allow policy and procedure reviews in key areas such as supply chain, engineering, manufacturing, quality and other functions to ensure alignment in the future.

"The facility tour is the best way to see the heart and soul of an operation," says Zogg. "It goes beyond the metrics on paper and gives us a real sense of how people are feeling. It's gratifying to see how willing most people are to voice their ideas when they know they are being listened to. Our organizations are very complementary, so we will be able to get off to a fast start upon close." Zogg notes that they are excited about the opportunity to contribute to the L3 Harris Technologies goal of realizing $500 million of annual gross cost synergies by year 3. "Driving cost reduction will not only help the bottom line, but will allow us to continue to invest in our future," he says. "We are working very hard during this planning stage so that we are positioned to achieve the right balance between driving operational efficiencies and delivering the highest quality," Roberts says.
