NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

(Unaudited)

NOTE A Basis of Presentation

Haverty Furniture Companies, Inc. ( Havertys, the Company, we, our, or us ) is a full service home furnishings retailer. The Company operates all of its stores using the Havertys brand and does not franchise its concept. The accompanying unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared in accordance with the instructions to Form 10-Q and therefore do not include all information and footnotes required by generally accepted accounting principles in the United States for complete financial statements. The financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its wholly-owned subsidiaries and one variable interest entity under FIN 46. All significant intercompany accounts and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation. In the opinion of management, all adjustments of a normal recurring nature considered necessary for a fair presentation have been included.

The preparation of condensed consolidated financial statements in conformity with accounting principles in the United States requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities as of the date of the consolidated financial statements and reported amounts of revenue and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

For further information, refer to the consolidated financial statements and footnotes thereto included in Havertys Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2005.

NOTE B Reclassification Adjustments

Prior to December 31, 2005, cash on hand in depository bank accounts and checks outstanding for disbursing bank accounts were both classified as cash and cash equivalents in the balance sheets and statements of cash flows. At December 31, 2005 and for all prior periods, checks outstanding for disbursing bank accounts have been reclassified to accounts payable. For balance sheet and statement of cash flow purposes, the amount of checks outstanding for disbursing bank accounts reclassified from cash and cash equivalents to accounts payable totaled approximately $9.4 million at June 30, 2005. Certain other prior year amounts have been reclassified to conform to the current presentation.

NOTE C Accounts Receivable

Accounts receivable balances resulting from certain credit promotions have scheduled payment amounts which extend beyond one year. A portion of the receivables are classified as long-term based on the specific programs' historical collection rate, which is generally faster than the scheduled rate. The portions of receivables contractually due beyond one year classified as current and long-term are estimates. The timing of actual collections that are contractually due beyond one year may be different from the amounts estimated to be collected within one year. However, based on experience, we do not believe the collection rate will differ significantly. At June 30, 2006 and 2005, the accounts receivable contractually due beyond one year from the respective balance sheet dates totaled approximately $16.3 million and $28.5 million, respectively.

NOTE D Interim LIFO Calculations

An actual valuation of inventory under the LIFO method can be made only at the end of each year based on the inventory levels and costs at that time. Accordingly, interim LIFO calculations must necessarily be based on management's estimates of expected year-end inventory levels and costs. Since these are affected by factors beyond management's control, interim results are subject to the final year-end LIFO inventory valuation.

NOTE E Earnings Per Share

We report our earnings per share using the two-class method as required by the Emerging Issues Task Force (EITF). The EITF reached final consensus on Issue No. 03-6, Participating Securities and the Two-Class Method under FASB Statement No. 128, Earnings Per Share (SFAS 128), at their March 17, 2004 meeting. EITF 03-6 requires the income per share for each class of common stock to be calculated assuming 100% of our earnings are distributed as dividends to each class of common stock based on their contractual rights.

The Common Stock of the Company has a preferential dividend rate of at least 105% of the dividend paid on the Class A Common Stock. The Class A Common Stock, which has ten votes per share as opposed to one vote per share for the Common Stock (on all matters other than the election of directors), may be converted at any time on a one-for-one basis into Common Stock at the option of the holder of the Class A Common Stock.

The effective result of EITF 03-6 is that the basic earnings per share for the Common Stock is 105% of the basic earnings per share of the Class A Common Stock. Additionally, given our current capital structure, diluted earnings per share for Common Stock under EITF 03-6 will be the same as was previously reported using the if-converted method.

The amount of earnings used in calculating diluted earnings per share of Common Stock is equal to net income since the Class A shares are assumed to be converted. Diluted earnings per share of Class A Common Stock includes the effect of dilutive common stock options and awards which reduces the amount of undistributed earnings allocated to the Class A Common Stock.

The following is a reconciliation of the number of shares used in calculating the diluted earnings per share for Common Stock under SFAS 128 and EITF 03-6 (shares in thousands):

NOTE F Stock-Based Compensation

On December 16, 2004, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) issued FASB Statement No. 123 (revised 2004), Share-Based Payment (Statement 123(R)), which is a revision of FASB Statement No. 123, Accounting for Stock-Based Compensation (Statement 123). Statement 123(R) supersedes APB Opinion No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees (Opinion 25) and amends FASB Statement No. 95, Statement of Cash Flows. Generally, the approach in Statement 123(R) is similar to the approach described in Statement 123. However, Statement 123(R) requires all share-based payments to employees, including grants of employee stock options, to be recognized in the income statement based on their fair values. Pro forma disclosure is no longer an alternative.

We adopted Statement 123(R) on January 1, 2006 and applied the modified prospective transition method. Under this transition method, we (1) did not restate any prior periods and (2) are recognizing compensation expense for all share-based payment awards that were outstanding, but not yet vested, as of January 1, 2006, based upon the same estimated grant-date fair values and service periods used to prepare our SFAS 123 pro forma disclosures.

HAVERTY FURNITURE COMPANIES, INC. AND SUBSIDIARIES*NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS*(Unaudited)

At June 30, 2006, we have options or awards outstanding under two stock-based employee compensation plans. As permitted by Statement 123, we had previously accounted for share-based payments to employees using Opinion 25's intrinsic value method. Accordingly, no stock-based employee compensation costs for any options were reflected in net income, as all options granted under those plans had an exercise price equal to the market value of the underlying common stock on the date of grant. We have transitioned from the use of options to restricted stock awards as the primary vehicle in our stock-based compensation strategy.

On August 18, 2005, the Board of Directors of Havertys, upon the recommendation of the Board's Executive Compensation and Employee Benefits Committee (the Executive Compensation Committee), approved the acceleration of vesting of all out-of-the-money, unvested stock options held by current employees, including executive officers and certain employee directors. An option was considered out-of-the-money if the stated option exercise price was greater than $12.57, the closing price of Havertys' common stock on August 18, 2005. All unvested options to purchase approximately 482,650 shares of common stock, which otherwise would have vested on a yearly basis through 2008 were out-of-the-money and became immediately exercisable. The weighted average exercise price of the accelerated options was $17.49. The decision to initiate the acceleration was made primarily to reduce compensation expense that would be expected to be recorded in future periods following our adoption of Statement 123(R). As a result of the acceleration, we reduced this expected compensation expense, net of tax, by a total of approximately $3,700,000 (approximately $2,000,000 in 2006, $1,100,000 in 2007, and $600,000 in 2008). These amounts are based on fair value calculations using the Black-Scholes methodology.

The following table illustrates the effect on net income if we had applied the fair value recognition provisions of Statement 123(R) to stock-based employee compensation (in thousands, except per share amounts). For purposes of this pro forma disclosure, the value of the options is estimated using a Black-Scholes option-pricing model and amortized to expense over the options vesting periods. The resulting pro forma diluted earnings per common share are $0.03 and $0.14 for the quarter and six months ended June 30, 2005, respectively.

(Unaudited)

All of the options outstanding at June 30, 2006 were for Common Stock. The following table summarizes information about the stock options outstanding as of June 30, 2006:

Options Outstanding and Exercisable

Range of Exercise Prices	Number Outstanding and Exercisable	Weighted Average Remaining Contractual Life (Years)	Weighted Average Exercise Price
$6.94 - 10.13	125,300	2.3	$9.77
10.81 - 15.94	1,515,300	5.1	13.81

$6.94 - 20.75	2,175,000	4.8	$15.06

Grants of restricted common stock are made to certain officers, key employees and members of the board of directors under the 2004 LTIP Plan. The forfeiture provisions on the awards generally expire annually, over periods not exceeding four years. Vesting may accelerate if we reach certain financial goals set by the Executive Compensation Committee.

The table below summarizes the restricted stock award activity during the six months ended June 30, 2006:

	# Shares
Outstanding at December 31, 2005	158,300
Granted	129,750
Forfeited	(7,350 )
Restrictions lapsed	(61,175 )
Outstanding at June 30, 2006	219,525

As of June 30, 2006, there was approximately $3,077,000 of unrecognized compensation cost related to unvested share-based compensation awards granted. That cost is expected to be recognized over the next four years.

On November 10, 2005, the FASB issued FASB Staff Position No. FAS 123R-3, Transition Election Related to Accounting for Tax Effects of Share-Based Payment Awards ( FSP 123R-3 ). The alternative transition method includes simplified methods to establish the beginning balance of the additional paid-in capital pool ( APIC pool ) related to the tax effects of employee stock-based compensation, and to determine the subsequent impact on the APIC pool and consolidated statements of cash flows of the tax effects of employee stock-based compensation awards that are outstanding upon adoption of SFAS 123(R). We have elected to adopt the alternative transition method provided in FSP 123R-3 for calculating the tax effects of stock-based compensation pursuant to SFAS 123(R) and do not expect the adoption to have a material effect on our consolidated financial position, results of operations or cash flows.

NOTE G Other (income) expense, net

Other (income) expense, net includes any gains or losses on sales of land, property and equipment, impairment losses and changes in previously estimated losses and other miscellaneous income or expense items which are non-recurring in nature. The following are the significant gains or losses that have been included in other (income) expense, net. We had gains of approximately $1.3 million from the sale of a warehouse and other properties during the first quarter of 2006. We received additional insurance proceeds of approximately $0.2 million during the first quarter of 2005 from certain coverages for facilities damaged by hurricanes.

NOTE J Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements

In February 2006, the FASB issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 155 (SFAS 155), Accounting for Certain Hybrid Financial Instruments an amendment of FASB Statements No. 133 and 140. SFAS 155 allows financial instruments that have embedded derivatives to be accounted for as a whole, eliminating the need to separate the derivative from its host, if the holder elects to account for the whole instrument on a fair value basis. This new accounting standard is effective January 1, 2007. The adoption of SFAS 155 is not expected to have an impact on our financial statements.

In March 2006, the FASB issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 156 (SFAS 156), Accounting for Servicing of Financial Assets an amendment of FASB Statement No. 140. SFAS 156 requires that all separately recognized servicing rights be initially measured at fair value, if applicable. In addition, this Statement permits an entity to choose between two measurement methods (amortization method or fair value measurement method) for each class of separately recognized servicing assets and liabilities. This new accounting standard is effective January 1, 2007. The adoption of SFAS 156 is not expected to have an impact on our financial statements.

In July 2006, the FASB issued FASB Interpretation ( FIN ) No. 48, Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes an interpretation of FASB Statement 109 . FIN 48 prescribes a comprehensive model for recognizing, measuring, presenting and disclosing in the financial statements tax positions taken or expected to be taken on a tax return, including a decision whether to file or not to file in a particular jurisdiction. FIN 48 is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2006. If there are changes in net assets as a result of application of FIN 48 these will be accounted for as an adjustment to retained earnings. We are currently assessing the impact of FIN 48 but do not expect the adoption to have a material effect on our consolidated financial position and results of operations.

Therefore, actual results may differ materially and adversely from those expressed in any forward-looking statement. Such statements speak only as of the date they are made and we undertake no obligation to publicly update or revise any forward-looking statement, whether as a result of future events, new information or otherwise. The following are some of the factors that could cause Havertys' actual results to differ materially from the expected results described in our forward-looking statements: the ability to maintain favorable arrangements and relationships with key suppliers (including domestic and international sourcing); any disruptions in the flow of imported merchandise; conditions affecting the availability and affordability of retail and distribution real estate sites; the ability to attract, train and retain highly qualified associates to staff existing and new stores, distribution facilities and corporate positions; general economic and financial market conditions, which affect consumer confidence and the spending environment for big ticket items; competition in the retail furniture industry; and changes in laws and regulations, including changes in accounting standards, tax statutes or regulations.

Operating Results and Financial Condition

The following discussion of Havertys' financial condition and results of operations should be read together with our condensed consolidated financial statements and related notes thereto included herein.

Net Sales

Our sales are generated by customer purchases of home furnishings in our retail stores and revenue is recognized upon delivery to the customer. The following outlines our sales and comp-store sales increases for the periods indicated:

Total sales increased $18.6 million or 9.7% and $20.1 million or 5.0% in the second quarter and the first six months of 2006, respectively. Comparable store sales increased 7.8% or $14.3 million in the second quarter and rose 3.4% or $13.1 million during the first six months of 2006. The remaining $4.3 million and $7.0 million of the increases in the second quarter and first six months of 2006, respectively, were from new and otherwise non-comparable stores. Stores are non-comparable if open for less than one year or if the selling square footage has been changed significantly during the past 12 full months. Large clearance sales events from warehouses or temporary locations are excluded from comparable store sales, as are periods when stores are closed for remodeling.

Although we believe the overall economy has improved, higher energy costs, rising interest rates and geo-political concerns have contributed to consumer's reluctance to increase spending for big-ticket furniture items. During the first six months of 2006 there was continued discounting activity in many of our markets by several retailers to stimulate business and increase their sales volume. We believe that this approach would negatively impact our everyday low pricing integrity with our customers over the longer term. Instead, our strategy is generally to use promotional pricing on a limited basis during traditional holiday and other sales events. Supplementing the pricing promotions, we also offer free-interest and deferred payment financing promotions.

During the first half of 2006, we promoted a longer term no interest financing program similar to those offered by other retailers. Although more costly, we believe it helped increase our business during a sluggish sales period. Additionally, these stronger financing programs require a larger minimum purchase and accordingly help increase our average sales transactions. We expect to continue to use a combination of financing promotions and special pricing on select merchandise to help stimulate sales.

Gross Profit

Cost of goods sold consists primarily of the purchase price of the merchandise together with inbound freight, handling within our distribution centers and transportation costs to the local markets we serve.

Our gross profit is largely dependent upon merchandising capabilities, vendor pricing, transportation costs and the mix of products sold. The continued improvements related to the products imported from Asia and pricing pressure on domestic suppliers have also generated good values for us. Many retailers have used the decreased costs to support their heavy promotional pricing. Our approach has been to offer products with greater value at our established middle to upper-middle price points.

Gross profit for the second quarter of 2006 increased 165 basis points compared to the prior year period due mostly to sales of new proprietary imported products introduced over the last year which carry a higher margin than the items replaced. During the first six months of 2005, we closed five local warehouses and our Florida regional warehouse facility. This generated higher than normal inventory close-out sales which, combined with pricing pressure on certain products and higher handling costs, negatively impacted gross profit margin. Gross profit for the six months ended June 30, 2006 increased approximately 211 basis points as compared to the respective prior year period. A reduction in warehouse handling expense was offset by higher transportation costs. We also recorded a favorable adjustment of $0.5 million in the first quarter of 2006 related to inventory which is not expected to recur. We expect gross profit margins to remain near the first six months' level for the remainder of the year.

Our gross profit also is impacted by the level of sales financed using our in-house long-term no interest credit promotions. During the six months ended June 30, 2006, this impact was $0.5 million less than the comparable period.

Substantially all of our occupancy and home delivery costs are included in selling, general and administrative expenses as are a portion of our warehousing expenses. Accordingly our gross profit may not be comparable to those entities that include these costs in cost of goods sold.

Selling, General and Administrative Expenses

Selling, general and administrative ( SG&A ) expenses are comprised of five categories: selling; occupancy; delivery; certain warehouse costs; advertising; and administrative. Selling expenses primarily are comprised of compensation of sales associates and sales support staff and fees paid to credit card and third party finance companies. Occupancy costs include rents, depreciation charges, insurance and property taxes, repairs and maintenance expenses and utility costs. Delivery costs include certain personnel, fuel costs, and depreciation and rental charges for rolling stock. Warehouse costs include demurrage, supplies, depreciation and rental charges for equipment. Advertising expenses are primarily media production and space, direct mail costs and market research expenses and employee compensation. Administrative expenses are comprised of compensation costs for store management, information systems, executive, finance, merchandising, supply chain, real estate and human resource departments.

Our SG&A costs in the second quarter were up eight basis points as a percent of sales compared to the prior year period and declined 42 basis points on a sequential basis compared to the first quarter of 2006. Our distribution system and store support infrastructure is designed to support the efficient expansion of our business. However, we need increased sales to leverage these costs.

Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations

During 2006, we offered through a third-party finance company a more promotional credit program than in the prior year. The increased costs of this program coupled with more usage caused the charges that we incurred to increase $2.6 million or 114 basis points as a percent of sales in the second quarter and $4.0 million or 91 basis points for the six months ended June 30, 2006 compared to the respective periods of 2005.

We increased our advertising dollars to reach our additional markets and amounts were directed to support the pricing promotional activity. These changes increased our costs by $0.4 million in the second quarter compared to the prior year period but declined 47 basis points as a percent of net sales. For the six months ended June 30, 2006, advertising expense increased over the 2005 period by $1.6 million and was flat as a percent of net sales.

Our administrative costs were up $0.7 million in the second quarter 2006 as compared to the 2005 period. This increase is due in large part to our entrance into two new major markets in late 2005. We did have a slight reduction in professional service fees but these were offset by the costs associated with strengthening our human capital in certain critical operating areas.

Credit Service Charge Revenue and Allowance for Doubtful Accounts

We offer a long term promotion of no interest with 19 to 24 equal monthly payments. This promotion and the shorter term but similar 13 to 18 month programs were the in-house financing offers most frequently chosen by our customers. These programs and the similar 12-month program generate very minor credit revenue, but incur lower bad debts relative to our deferred payment in-house credit programs. In addition, we offer our customers the opportunity to apply for credit with a third-party credit provider. Sales financed by this provider are not Havertys' receivables and accordingly we do not have any credit risk or service responsibility for these accounts, and there is no credit or collection recourse to Havertys. The most popular programs offered through the third-party provider for the second quarter of 2006 were no interest offers requiring 19 to 34 equal monthly payments. The longer term promotion was offered as a sales stimulant during 2006. The third-party provider also offers our customers a deferred payment for 12 months with an interest accrual that is waived if the entire balance is paid in full at the end of the deferral period.

The following highlights the impact these changes have had on our credit service charge revenue and related accounts receivable and allowance for doubtful accounts (in thousands):

Our allowance for doubtful accounts as a percentage of receivables is lower in 2006 due to improvements in the delinquency and problem category percentages from 2005.

Interest expense, net

Interest expense, net is primarily comprised of interest expense on the Company's debt and the amortization of the discount on the Company's receivables which have deferred or no interest payment terms. The following table summarizes the components of interest expense, net (in thousands):

	Quarter ended		Six months ended
	June 30, 2006	2005	June 30, 2006	2005
Interest expense on debt	$ 1,104	$ 1,084	$ 2,043	$ 2,299
Amortization of discount on accounts receivable	(856 )	(604 )	(1,700 )	(759 )
Other, including capitalized interest and interest income	(152 )	(83 )	(281 )	(242 )
	$ 96	$ 397	$ 62	$ 1,298

Interest expense on debt was relatively unchanged in 2006 as average debt decreased and the effective interest rate increased slightly.

We make available to certain customers interest free credit programs, which generally range from 3 to 24 months. In connection with these programs which are greater than 12 months, we are required to discount the payments to be received over the life of the interest free credit program. On the basis of the credit worthiness of the customers and our low delinquency rates under these programs, we discount the receivables utilizing the prime rate of interest at the date of sale. The discount is recorded as a charge to cost of goods sold and as a contra receivable and is amortized as a credit to interest expense over the life of the receivable.

The amount of amortization has increased as the level of receivables generated under longer term, free interest financing promotions has increased.

Other (income) expense

Other (income) expense includes any gains or losses on the sales of real estate and miscellaneous income or expense items which are non-recurring in nature. During 2006, we had gains from the sale of our Nashville warehouse and other properties of $1.3 million. We received additional insurance proceeds of approximately $0.2 million during the first quarter of 2005, from certain coverages for facilities damaged by hurricanes.

Provision for Income Taxes

The effective tax rate was 38.6% and 34.0% for the three months ended June 30, 2006 and 2005, and 38.1% and 36.4% for the six months ended June 30, 2006 and 2005, respectively. The effective tax rate differs from the statutory rate primarily due to state income taxes, net of the Federal tax benefit.

Balance Sheet Changes for the Six Months Ended June 30, 2006

Cash balances declined by approximately $3.6 million from December 31, 2005 to June 30, 2006 as we utilized cash balances and cash generated from operating activities to make capital expenditures and repay long term debt.

Accounts receivable declined approximately $17.9 million since the end of the last year due to the popularity of the longer term no interest credit promotion offered through our third-party credit provider.

Inventories increased approximately $11.1 million during the first six months of 2006 as we utilized our increased warehouse space and improved our in-stock position.

Prepaid expenses increased approximately $2.2 million since the end of last year due primarily to payments for estimated income and sales taxes.

Other current assets declined by approximately $1.0 million as we had a lower amount receivable at June 30, 2006 from our third-party credit provider.

Accounts payable decreased $2.0 million due to the timing of disbursements and checks clearing the bank.

Customer deposits declined $4.2 million since last year end due to improved supply chain merchandise flows.

Accrued liabilities declined $7.5 million due to payments during the period for certain property and sales taxes, the 2005 bonus accrual and amounts for contingent rents.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

The following discusses the sources of our cash flows and commitments which impact our liquidity and capital resources on both a short-term and long-term basis.

Cash provided by operations was $13.7 million as we experienced increases in inventories and reductions in customer deposits and accrued liabilities offset in part by a reduction in accounts receivable. Net income was $8.7 million and depreciation and amortization was $10.5 million.

Cash flows used in investing activities of $10.0 million in the first six months of 2006 were primarily for capital expenditures of $13.2 million offset in part by $2.9 million in proceeds from the sales of property and equipment.

Cash flows used in financing activities were $7.3 million as we repaid $6.6 million of long-term debt and paid $3.0 million in dividends.

Financings

We have revolving lines of credit available for general corporate purposes and as interim financing for capital expenditures. These credit facilities are syndicated with five commercial banks and are comprised of two revolving lines totaling $80.0 million that terminate in August 2010. Borrowings under these facilities are unsecured and accrue interest at LIBOR plus a spread that is based on a fixed-charge coverage ratio. We owed $5.0 million under these facilities at June 30, 2006. We also had letters of credit in the amount of $5.4 million outstanding at June 30, 2006 and these amounts are considered part of the facilities usage. Our unused capacity was $69.6 million at June 30, 2006.

Store Expansion and Capital Expenditures

We have entered several new markets during the past twelve months and made continued improvements and relocations of our store base. Our total selling square footage has increased an average of approximately 4% over the past 10 years.

Edgar Filing: HAVERTY FURNITURE COMPANIES INC - Form 10-Q

We are expecting to add approximately 3.7% and close 2.2% for a net 1.5% increase in retail square footage during 2006. We recently opened a new store as we entered the Port Charlotte, Florida market and in the first quarter opened a new store in the southeastern area of the metro-Atlanta market. Additionally, we expect to open a new store in the new market of Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, a second store in the Cincinnati, Ohio market and replace a store in Dallas, Texas. Our plans for 2006 include the closing of three older stores. Our strategy is to pursue opportunities in densely populated markets which we can serve using our existing distribution.

Our planned expenditures for 2006 are $30.0 million for stores, distribution and information technology. Capital expenditures for stores do not necessarily coincide with the years in which the store opens. Cash balances, funds from operations, proceeds from sales of properties and bank lines of credit are expected to be adequate to finance our 2006 capital expenditures

Item 3. Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures About Market Risk

There have been no material changes with respect to our derivative financial instruments and other financial instruments and their related market risk since the date of the Company's most recent annual report.

Item 4. Controls and Procedures

As of the end of the period covered by this report, an evaluation was performed under the supervision and with the participation of our management, including the Chief Executive Officer (CEO) and Chief Financial Officer (CFO) of the effectiveness of the design and operation of the Company's disclosure controls and procedures. There have been no changes in the Company's internal control over financial reporting identified in connection with the evaluation described in the immediately preceding paragraph that occurred during the period covered by this report that have materially affected, or are reasonably likely to materially affect, the Company's internal control over financial reporting.
