ITEM 9. Forward Looking Information Relating to Hughes

General Motors Corporation's (GM) subsidiary Hughes Electronics Corporation (Hughes) filed the following forward looking information on Form 8-K.

Hughes Announces Revised guidance for Second Quarter and Full-Year 2001

El Segundo, Calif., June 11, 2001 -- Hughes Electronics Corporation, a world-leading provider of digital television entertainment, broadband services, satellite-based private business networks, and global video and data broadcasting, announced today that it is issuing new guidance for the second quarter and full year of 2001.

"Sales at our national consumer electronics retailers, which are our primary distribution outlets for DIRECTV Systems, have been slower than we expected, in large part due to the softening economy," explained Jack A. Shaw, HUGHES chief executive officer. "In addition, we are seeing continued slowing in the contribution of subscribers from the rural markets that are served by the National Rural Telecommunications Cooperative (NRTC). As a result, we expect that our DIRECTV business in the United States will add fewer net subscribers than we originally anticipated this quarter, and for the full year.

"We are also increasing our DIRECTV U.S. EBITDA1 guidance for the quarter and the full year because the lowered subscriber projections result in lower subscriber marketing expenses." Shaw continued.

"To combat the slower retail sales in the United States, we are taking aggressive steps to strengthen the performance of all of our distribution partners, who include independent retailers and direct sales, in addition to our national consumer electronics retailers and Blockbuster. We have implemented a variety of marketing tactics, including aggressively targeting cable customers who have experienced large rate increases or poor service. We are also shifting our advertising and marketing focus to the more than 60 million television households where DIRECTV offers local channels and is truly a replacement for cable. In addition, we're adding a lease program through our direct sales channel, as well as continuing our efforts to reduce churn," Shaw stated. "We also anticipate positive results from our traditional third quarter offering of NFL SUNDAY TICKET(TM), - one of our strongest acquisition tools - which we will begin promoting in early August."

"In addition, we are adjusting our projections for DIRECTV Latin America as we place a greater emphasis on reducing churn and attracting long-term profitable subscribers. As a result, we will be more selective in our pursuit of new subscribers and have accordingly reduced our current quarter and full-year subscriber projections. We also expect lower EBITDA losses."

HUGHES' revised guidance is shown below. No changes were made to the guidance for PanAmSat and Hughes Network Systems (HNS). HUGHES' complete guidance is contained on the HUGHES web site at www.hughes.com.
