Item 2.02 Results of Operations and Financial Condition.

On November 3, 2014, Acxiom Corporation (the “Company”) issued a press release announcing the results of its financial performance for the second quarter of fiscal year 2015. The Company will hold a conference call at 3:30 p.m. CT today to discuss this information further. Interested parties are invited to listen to the call, which will be broadcast via the Internet at www.acxiom.com. The press release is furnished herewith as Exhibit 99.1 and incorporated by reference herein.

The Company’s press release and other communications from time to time include certain non-GAAP financial measures. A “non-GAAP financial measure” is defined as a numerical measure of a company’s financial performance, financial position or cash flows that excludes (or includes) amounts that are included in (or excluded from) the most directly comparable measure calculated and presented in accordance with GAAP in the Company’s financial statements.

The attached press release includes non-GAAP measures of (i) income from operations, earnings per share attributable to Acxiom shareholders, and segment income from operations, all excluding unusual items and (ii) free cash flow available to equity. Operating income excluding unusual items and earnings per share attributable to Acxiom shareholders excluding unusual items represent income from the Company’s operations less expenses related to discontinued operations, gains, losses and other items, the impact of business separation and transformation expenses recorded in selling, general and administrative expense, the impact of purchased intangible asset amortization recorded in cost of revenue and the impact of non-cash stock compensation recorded in both cost of revenue and selling, general and administrative expense. Segment income from operations excluding unusual items represents segment income from operations excluding purchased intangible asset amortization and non-cash stock compensation that was charged to the segment for GAAP purposes. The Company’s management believes that these non-GAAP measures are meaningful since they represent the recurring income from the Company’s continuing operations before one-time items, which are not a recurring part of the Company’s ordinary course operations, and before purchased intangible asset amortization and non-cash stock compensation, which are recurring non-cash expenses. Management also believes these measures are useful in comparison to other companies who report similar measures. The non-GAAP measures are reconciled to the corresponding GAAP measures of income from operations, earnings per share attributable to Acxiom shareholders, and segment income from operations in schedules to the press release.

Free cash flow available to equity is defined as operating cash flow less cash used by investing activities (excluding the impact of cash paid in acquisitions), less required payments of debt. The Company’s management believes that this measure of free cash flow available to equity is meaningful since it represents the amount of money available for the Company’s discretionary spending after funding all required obligations including scheduled debt payments, and it therefore provides a useful measure of liquidity for assessing the amount of cash available for general corporate and strategic purposes. Free cash flow available to equity is reconciled to operating cash flow, the nearest comparable GAAP measure, in a schedule to the press release.

The non-GAAP financial measures used by the Company may not be comparable to similarly titled measures used by other companies and should not be considered in isolation or as substitutes for measures of financial performance or liquidity prepared in accordance with GAAP.
