Item 1: On March 10, 2008, The Charming Shoppes Full Value Committee issued the following press release:

THE CHARMING SHOPPES FULL VALUE COMMITTEE COMMENTS ON LAWSUIT

Calls Frivolous Claims a Vain Attempt to Disenfranchise Shareholders and Distract Attention From the Severe Operational and Financial Problems Plaguing Charming Shoppes

NEW YORK, NY – MARCH 10, 2008 - The Charming Shoppes Full Value Committee (the “Committee”) today commented on the lawsuit filed by Charming Shoppes, Inc. (“Charming Shoppes” or the “Company”) (NASDAQ:CHRS) alleging that members of the Committee filed materially misleading and incomplete documents with the Securities and Exchange Commission. After reviewing the complaint, the Committee has concluded that the lawsuit is without merit and a baseless attempt by the Company to abuse the court process to usurp corporate democracy and disenfranchise shareholders.

The Committee also notes that Dorrit J. Bern, Charming Shoppes’ Chairman of the Board, President and Chief Executive Officer, who has watched over years of disastrous stock performance and sub-par operating performance at the Company, is up for election as a director at the 2008 Annual Meeting. In bringing such a groundless lawsuit, the Committee believes that Ms. Bern and the Company are improperly wasting corporate assets at the expense of shareholders in a last-ditch attempt to entrench Ms. Bern and other Board members. The Committee believes it is rather ironic that the Company is alleging that the Committee is trying to “achieve personal gain at the expense of Charming Shoppes and its shareholders” when, in fact, the Committee is trying to protect the interests of all shareholders from a Board of Directors that has awarded the Company’s top five executive officers, including Ms. Bern, more than $45 million in compensation over the last three years, despite the Company’s poor track record and disastrous stock performance. In the past 12 months alone, the Company’s stock has fallen almost 60%. The Committee notes that Ms. Bern, herself, was recently awarded a new three-year contract with a 24% increase in compensation and substantial increase in the number of options and shares received.

Commenting on the lawsuit on behalf of the Committee, Eric Rosenfeld, President and CEO of Crescendo Partners stated, “The Committee is committed to standing up for and protecting the rights of all shareholders and this lawsuit will in no way deter us and the other shareholders from expressing our views in a democratic process. We only wish the Board and management of Charming Shoppes would focus their energy and resources on improving the business rather than spending shareholders’ money on this frivolous lawsuit. We urge all shareholders to ask themselves whose interests Ms. Bern and the Company are really trying to protect.”
