What are some of the market measures to which an RBS ETN can be linked?

- [ ] The return on RBS ETNs is based on the performance of underlying market measure(s) across various asset classes such as equity or commodity indices and commodities, which are described in the pricing supplement and prospectus applicable to your RBS ETN.

How do I buy an RBS ETN?

- [ ] RBS ETNs are listed and traded on a U.S. securities exchange (currently, NYSE Arca) and can be bought and sold during trading hours, in a similar manner to buying or selling publicly traded stocks.
- [ ] RBS ETNs can be purchased through your broker, financial advisor or an online trading platform.

What happens if I buy and hold an RBS ETN to its maturity?

- [ ] The applicable issuer will pay you an amount in cash equal to the daily redemption value of your RBS ETN on the applicable valuation date.
- [ ] The daily redemption value on the applicable valuation date will depend on the performance of the underlying market measure(s) to which the RBS ETN is linked, less applicable investor fees.
- [ ] Payments are subject to the applicable issuer's (and in the case of the guarantee, the applicable guarantor's) ability to pay.

Can I offer my RBS ETNs for repurchase by the issuer before their maturity date?

- [ ] If you own a minimum amount of a specific RBS ETN, you can offer to have your RBS ETNs repurchased by the applicable issuer at the daily redemption value through your broker, provided that your broker offers the minimum repurchase amount for that RBS ETN.

- [ ] The pricing supplement for a specific RBS ETN contains the repurchase procedures for your broker to follow.

What is the daily redemption value of an RBS ETN?

- [ ] The daily redemption value of an RBS ETN is the amount that would be payable by the applicable issuer to the investor if the RBS ETN was repurchased or redeemed by that issuer and that date was the applicable valuation date.
- [ ] The daily redemption value for an RBS ETN will depend on the performance of the underlying market measure(s) to which the RBS ETN is linked, less applicable investor fees.
- [ ] The daily redemption value for each outstanding RBS ETN will be published on www.rbs.com/etnUS.

Can an RBS ETN trade at a premium or discount to its daily redemption value or indicative value?

- [ ] If you sell RBS ETNs in the secondary market you will receive the market price of the RBS ETNs, which may be more or less than the stated face amount, the indicative value or the daily redemption value of your RBS ETNs, and which may be more or less than what you paid for them.
- [ ] For example, the issuer may decide to issue and sell additional RBS ETNs from time to time at a price that is higher or lower than the stated face amount, based on the indicative value of the RBS ETNs at that time.
- [ ] The applicable issuer is under no obligation to issue or sell additional RBS ETNs, and if that issuer does sell additional RBS ETNs, that issuer may stop selling additional RBS ETNs for any reason. This could materially and adversely affect the price and liquidity of the RBS ETNs in the secondary market.
- [ ] The RBS ETNs may trade at a premium if the applicable issuer suspends the issuance of additional RBS ETNs. Paying a premium price over the indicative value of the RBS ETNs could lead to significant losses.
- [ ] Events such as a credit rating downgrade of the applicable issuer or guarantor may adversely impact the market price of an RBS ETN, causing it to trade at a discount to its daily redemption value or indicative value.

What is the tax treatment of an investment in an RBS ETN?

- [ ] We expect to treat the RBS ETNs for U.S. federal income tax purposes as prepaid financial contracts that are not debt. If this treatment is respected, subject to any special considerations described in the applicable pricing supplement (e.g., for ETNs with coupon payments and ETNs linked to currencies):
  - [ ] you should not recognize taxable income or loss prior to the maturity or disposition of your RBS ETNs;
  - [ ] your gain or loss on the RBS ETNs should be capital gain or loss; and
  - [ ] 1099s, not K-1s, would be the tax reporting forms received.
- [ ] However, there is significant uncertainty about the tax treatment of investments like the RBS ETNs. The Internal Revenue Service may take the position, either on audit or by publishing generally applicable guidance, that you must recognize taxable income during the period you hold RBS ETNs, even though you receive no cash, and/or that your gain must be taxed as ordinary income instead of capital gain. You should consult your tax adviser regarding U.S. Federal tax consequences of an investment in the ETNs (including possible alternative treatments) as well as tax consequences arising under the laws of any state, local or non --U.S. taxing jurisdiction.

Edgar Filing: ROYAL BANK OF SCOTLAND GROUP PLC - Form FWP

What are some of the key risks to investing in RBS ETNs?

The applicable pricing supplement and prospectus for your RBS ETNs will describe material risks related to an investment in RBS ETNs. These risks include the following:

Credit risk of the relevant issuer and guarantor

- [ ] RBS ETNs are unsecured and unsubordinated obligations of RBS N.V. or RBS plc, as the case may be, and are fully and unconditionally guaranteed by RBS Holdings or RBS Group, respectively. If the applicable issuer fails to make any required payments on the RBS ETNs, your receipt of such payments will depend on the ability of the applicable guarantor to pay its obligations as they become due.
- [ ] In addition, unlike ordinary debt securities, the RBS ETNs are not principal protected and do not pay interest. The RBS ETNs are not bank deposits and are not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the Deposit Insurance Fund or any other government agency.

Market risk

- [ ] The return on an RBS ETN will depend on the performance of the underlying market measure(s) to which the RBS ETN is linked. You may lose all or a significant amount of your investment in the RBS ETNs if the level(s) of the underlying market measure(s) were to decrease substantially.

Investor fees

- [ ] The daily redemption value is the amount payable at maturity or upon early repurchase or redemption of your RBS ETNs and is reduced by the aggregate investor fee applicable to your RBS ETNs.
- [ ] As a result, the level of the underlying market measure(s) to which your RBS ETNs are linked must increase by an amount sufficient to offset the aggregate investor fee in order for you to receive at least the face amount of your investment at maturity or upon early repurchase or redemption.
- [ ] If the level(s) of the underlying market measures(s) were to decrease or not increase sufficiently, you would receive less, and possibly significantly less, than your initial investment at maturity or upon early repurchase or redemption.

Liquidity risk

- [ ] Even though RBS ETNs are expected to be listed on a U.S. securities exchange, there is no guarantee that the listing will be maintained or that a secondary market will develop. The applicable issuer is not required to maintain any listing of RBS ETNs on any securities exchange.

Restrictions on your ability to offer RBS ETNs for repurchase by the relevant Issuer

- [ ] Through your broker, you may offer RBS ETNs for repurchase by the

Edgar Filing: ROYAL BANK OF SCOTLAND GROUP PLC - Form FWP

applicable issuer, subject to certain restrictions and procedures described in the applicable pricing supplement.

Call risk

- [ ] The applicable issuer also has the right to redeem your RBS ETNs, in its sole discretion. If the applicable issuer elects to redeem your RBS ETNs, you may not be able to reinvest your proceeds in a comparable investment.

Uncertain tax treatment

- [ ] Significant aspects of the U.S. federal income tax treatment of the RBS ETNs are uncertain, and the Internal Revenue Service or a court might not agree with the intended tax consequences described in the applicable pricing supplement.
