Global Reinsurance

Success in a very competitive market

* Key factors in Reinsurance:

Broad access to business

Preferred market, positioned to see all business -- geographies and products

Ability to generate new business -- providing client solutions

Underwriting outperformance

Ability to outperform market by disciplined underwriting (price), cycle management execution, large mistakes avoidance, portfolio optimization and macro positions

Capital efficiency / flexibility

Ability to reduce cost of capital to sell competitive solutions to our clients and optimize ROE

Ability to leverage all sources of capital to respond to opportunities, optimize gross to net.

Cost efficiency

Ability to operate with lean resources in order to remain competitive

A PartnerRe/ AXIS combination enhances our ability to succeed in the current environment

Merger strengthens relationships with brokers and cedants

* Creation of a credible and sizeable broker-committed underwriter aligns us with reinsurance brokers in competition with top-four reinsurers

Both organizations have a commitment to a broker based distribution

Combined company will be leading broker-based reinsurer by GPW

Putting together sizeable capacity is a challenge in the highly fragmented state of broker market reinsurers. A PartnerRe/ AXIS combination will ensure:
 Larger capital base to take sizeable participations for its own account A larger available selection of 3(rd) party capital providers The underwriting reputation that will allow brokers to easily fill in following shares

* Cedants and reinsurance buyer trends include 1) panel consolidation and 2) expectation of value added service from reinsurance partners

In both cases size, financial strength and expertise clearly matter

Combined company provides similar culture, brand values as well as continuity and longevity in the market

* Strong risk cultures and conservative approach to investments reflect primary objective of the investment function as a support to the companies' core (re)insurance activities

[] Both companies invest substantially more than the value of their (re)insurance reserves in high quality, standard Fixed Income instruments, making sure to match currency and duration exposures of their liabilities

[] The combined entity is likely to maintain a credit quality of A+ or above and will continue to have its allowable duration range centered at the duration of its liabilities * Both companies emphasize internal management to construct and shape the overall portfolio. Activities such as asset allocation, benchmark construction, risk and compliance monitoring and performance attribution / monitoring are performed internally * The majority of security selection in PartnerRe is done internally. AXIS Capital uses third party managers for security selection in all of its strategies

[] The combined entity will follow a similar approach. The enhanced scale will allow the combined entity to take greater advantage of the control benefits of internal management and to supplement its capabilities (and gain attendant diversification) through the use of specialist external managers
