As a shareholder of The India Fund, Inc. and/ or The Asia Tigers Fund, Inc., we are sending you very important and timely information regarding your investments. Enclosed you will find the notice and Joint Proxy Statement providing detailed information about a new proposed investment management agreement with Aberdeen Asset Management Asia Limited.

After deliberations over the past several months, the Board of Directors of each Fund has approved a new investment management agreement between each Fund and Aberdeen Asset Management Asia Limited (Aberdeen Asia). Aberdeen Asia is a wholly owned subsidiary of Aberdeen Asset Management PLC (with its affiliates referred to as Aberdeen Global).

Blackstone Asia Advisors L.L.C. (BAA) is the current investment manager to the Funds, having served in this role since December 4, 2005. The Boards' deliberations were necessitated by the decision of The Blackstone Group L.P. (Blackstone), the corporate parent of BAA, to exit the business of managing publicly listed closed-end investment companies focused on Asian equity markets.

Why am I being asked to vote on the New Advisory Agreements?

The Boards' search for a new investment manager for the Funds was necessitated by the decision of Blackstone to exit the business of managing publicly listed closed-end investment companies focused on Asian equity markets (the Business).

After a comprehensive search process, the Boards selected Aberdeen Asia based on Aberdeen Global's investment track record, investment process and philosophy, capabilities in the closed-end fund management business globally and in the Asian region specifically and intentions and goals for the Funds.

What does each Fund's Board of Directors recommend that I vote FOR?

In light of the need to provide continued investment advisory and other services to the Funds following implementation of Blackstone's decision to exit the Business and after considering alternatives and conducting an extensive analysis of the capabilities and credentials of Aberdeen Asia as an investment manager, the Directors of your Fund recommend you vote FOR the investment management agreement with Aberdeen Asia.

Why is the Board recommending Aberdeen?

Aberdeen Global is a global business with 30 offices in 23 countries. Aberdeen Global operates independently and primarily manages assets for third parties. Aberdeen Asia has extensive experience in managing Asian equities in both regional and single country mandates. Moreover, closed-end funds have formed part of Aberdeen Global's business since Aberdeen PLC's inception and remain an important element of the firm's client base in the US and globally. For more information about Aberdeen Asia, please review the enclosed Joint Proxy Statement.

How will the New Advisory Agreement affect me as a Fund shareholder?

Your Fund and its investment objective will not change as a result of the New Advisory Agreement and you will still own the same shares in the same Fund. The New Advisory Agreement has terms that are similar to the terms of the BAA Advisory Agreement. Certain differences, which generally operate to the benefit of Fund shareholders, will exist in the New Advisory Agreements between Aberdeen Asia and each of the Funds. These differences are described in detail in the Joint Proxy Statement.

Will the fee rates payable under the New Advisory Agreements increase? Will total fund expenses increase?

No. The New Advisory Agreements will have the same fee schedules as are currently in effect so long as the Funds do not use leverage. The Funds have not utilized borrowing arrangements or other forms of investment leverage to purchase portfolio securities and the current investment advisory arrangements with BAA do not contemplate the use of leverage. To provide the Board flexibility to authorize a Fund to use leverage in the future if, in the Board's judgment, it would be advantageous to do so, the New Advisory Agreements provide that the advisory fee rate will be applied to all Fund assets, including assets acquired with leverage. If the Funds in the future utilize leverage, the advisory fees would be greater than if leverage is not utilized. In addition, Aberdeen Asia has agreed to cap total ordinary operating expenses of each Fund, excluding taxes, brokerage, interest and non-routine expenses. As a result of the cap, the overall expense ratio of your Fund is expected to decline somewhat. For a detailed comparison of the fees and expenses of each Fund, please review the enclosed Joint Proxy Statement.

How will the New Advisory Agreement affect how the Fund is managed?

Aberdeen Asia has advised the Boards that it follows a bottom-up process based on evaluations of companies through direct visits.

No stock is bought without Aberdeen Asia team members having first met management. Aberdeen Asia estimates a company's worth in two stages: quality then price. Quality is defined in reference to management, business focus, balance sheet and corporate governance. Price is calculated relative to key financial ratios, market, peer group and business prospects. Top-down factors are secondary in portfolio construction. Aberdeen Asia portfolios generally emphasize a traditional buy-and-hold strategy, resulting in low turnover. Portfolios are managed on a team basis, with investment managers doing their own research and analysis.

Applying this investment style and approach, Aberdeen Asia has advised the Boards that it expects that substantial repositioning of the investment portfolios of the Funds will occur. Furthermore, Aberdeen Asia has advised the Boards that it expects any repositioning to be done in a manner that minimizes transaction costs and mitigates adverse tax consequences. Over time, Aberdeen Asia has advised the Boards that it expects low portfolio turnover for the Funds' portfolios and a lesser correlation to the Funds' benchmark indices.
