General Motors Acceptance Corporation

Explanatory Note

General Motors Acceptance Corporation (the Company) hereby amends the Company's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarterly period ended September 30, 2005, filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission on November 9, 2005. This amendment on Form 10-Q/A restates the Company's Condensed Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 and 2004 to correct the classification of certain amounts as more fully discussed in Note 1 to the accompanying Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements. In addition, the Company has amended Item 4, Controls and Procedures, to update the disclosure regarding disclosure controls and procedures and internal control over financial reporting.

All of the information in this Form 10-Q/A is as of November 9, 2005, the filing date of the original report on Form 10-Q and does not reflect events occurring since this date. However, all prior references to the 2004 Annual Report on Form 10-K, in the original report on Form 10-Q, have been modified in this report to reference the Company's most recent information which is filed in its 2005 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Except for the matters discussed above, no other information included in the original report on Form 10-Q is amended by this Form 10-Q/A.

General Motors Acceptance Corporation

1 Basis of Presentation

General Motors Acceptance Corporation (GMAC or the Company) is a wholly-owned subsidiary of General Motors Corporation (General Motors or GM). The Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements include the accounts of the Company and its majority-owned subsidiaries and those variable interest entities (VIEs) where GMAC is the primary beneficiary, after eliminating all significant intercompany balances and transactions.

The Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements as of September 30, 2005 and for the third quarter and nine months ended September 30, 2005 and 2004 are unaudited but, in management's opinion, include all adjustments, consisting of normal recurring adjustments, necessary for a fair presentation of the results for the interim periods. Certain prior period amounts have been reclassified to conform to the current period presentation. The most significant reclassification relates to gains on disposals of operating leases, which were previously netted against depreciation expense on operating lease assets and now are reflected as a separate component of other operating expenses.

The interim period Consolidated Financial Statements, including the related notes, is condensed and in accordance with interim generally accepted accounting principles in the United States of America (GAAP). These interim period Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements should be read in conjunction with the Company's audited Consolidated Financial Statements, which are included in GMAC's Annual Report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2005, filed with the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC).

On August 3, 2005, the Company announced that it had entered into a definitive agreement to sell a sixty percent equity interest in GMAC Commercial Holding Corp. (GMAC Commercial Mortgage). The transaction is intended to allow GMAC Commercial Mortgage increased access to capital for continued growth of its business and GMAC to retain a significant economic interest. While the transaction received GMAC Board of Directors approval on August 2, 2005, it is expected that the transaction will be completed near the end of 2005, subject to all necessary conditions and approvals. For the third quarter and nine months ended September 30, 2005, GMAC Commercial Mortgage's earnings and cashflows are fully consolidated in GMAC's Condensed Consolidated Statement of Income and Statement of Cash Flows. However, as a result of the agreement to sell a sixty percent equity interest, the assets and liabilities of GMAC's Commercial Mortgage segment have been classified as held for sale separately in GMAC's Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet at September 30, 2005. The following table presents GMAC Commercial Mortgage's major classes of assets and liabilities classified as held for sale and presented as of September 30, 2005.

Restatements of Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements

GMAC's quarterly information for the third quarter and nine months ended September 30, 2004 has been restated from previously reported results to adjust for certain amounts that were recognized in the incorrect 2004 quarterly period. These adjustments did not impact GMAC's 2004 annual results, financial condition as of December 31, 2004 or cash flows for the year ended December 31, 2004 (see 2005 Annual Report on Form 10-K for restated 2004 Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows and also see restated cash flow information elsewhere in this Note), nor were the adjustments individually material to GMAC's quarterly Consolidated Financial Statements. Most of the adjustments related to items detected and recorded in the fourth quarter of 2004 at GMAC's residential mortgage businesses (GMAC Residential and GMAC-RFC) that related to earlier 2004 quarters. More specifically, certain of the adjustments were identified and corrected through internal control remediation that occurred in connection with GMAC's Corporate Sarbanes-Oxley Section 404 program. The most significant of these adjustments involved the valuation of certain interests in securitized assets, accounting for deferred income taxes related to certain secured financing transactions and the income statement effects of consolidating certain mortgage transfers previously recognized as sales. The effects of the restatements are as follows:

(b) Refer to Note 10 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for a description of GMAC's reporting segments.

Subsequent to the issuance of the Company's Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements as of and for the nine months ended September 30, 2005, the Company discovered that cash outflows related to certain mortgage loan originations and purchases were not appropriately classified as either operating cash flows or investing cash flows consistent with the original designation as loans held for sale or loans held for investment. In addition, proceeds from sales and repayments related to certain mortgage loans, which initially were classified as mortgage loans held for investment and subsequently transferred to mortgage loans held for sale, were reported as operating cash flows instead of investing cash flows in the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows, as required by Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 102 Statement of Cash Flows - Exemption of Certain Enterprises and Classification of Cash Flows from Certain Securities Acquired for Resale. Finally, certain non-cash proceeds and transfers were not appropriately presented in the Condensed Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows.

The Company has restated its Condensed Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows for these amounts. The restatement of this information does not change total cash and cash equivalents. Furthermore, the restatement has no effect on the Company's Condensed Consolidated Statement of Income, Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet or Condensed Consolidated Statement of Changes in Stockholder's Equity. The effect of the restatement on the Company's previously reported Condensed Consolidated Statement of Cash Flows for the nine months ended September 30, 2005 and 2004 is as follows:

Recently Issued Accounting Standards

Statement of Position 03-3 In December 2003, the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants issued Statement of Position 03-3, Accounting for Certain Loans or Debt Securities Acquired in a Transfer (SOP 03-3), that addresses accounting for differences between contractual cash flows and cash flows expected to be collected from an investor's initial investment in loans or debt securities acquired in a transfer if those differences are attributable, at least in part, to credit quality. SOP 03-3 does not apply to loans originated by the entity. SOP 03-3 limits the accretible yield to the excess of the investor's estimate of undiscounted expected principal, interest and other cash flows (expected at acquisition to be collected) over the investor's initial investment in the loan and it prohibits carrying over or creating a valuation allowance for the excess of contractual cash flows over cash flows expected to be collected in the initial accounting of a loan acquired in a transfer. SOP 03-3 and the required disclosures were effective for loans acquired in fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2004. Adoption of SOP 03-3 did not have a material impact on the Company's financial condition or results of operations.

Statement of Financial Accounting Standards No. 154 In May 2005, the Financial Accounting Standards Board issued Statement of Financial Accounting Standards 154, Accounting Changes and Error Corrections (SFAS 154), that addresses accounting for changes in accounting principle, changes in accounting estimates, changes required by an accounting pronouncement in the instance that the pronouncement does not include specific transition provisions and error correction. SFAS 154 requires retrospective application to prior periods' financial statements of changes in accounting principle and error correction unless impracticable to do so. SFAS 154 states an exception to retrospective application when a change in accounting principle, or the method of applying it, may be inseparable from the effect of a change in accounting estimate. When a change in principle is inseparable from a change in estimate, such as depreciation, amortization or depletion, the change to the financial statements is to be presented in a prospective manner. SFAS 154 and the required disclosures are effective for accounting changes and error corrections in fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2005.

Emerging Issues Task Force No. 04-5 In July 2005, the Emerging Issues Task Force released Issue 04-5, Determining Whether a General Partner, or the General Partners as a Group, Controls a Limited Partnership or Similar Entity When the Limited Partners Have Certain Rights (EITF 04-5). EITF 04-5 provides guidance in determining whether a general partner controls a limited partnership by determining the general partner's substantive ability to dissolve (liquidate) the limited partnership as well as assessing the substantive participating rights of the general partner within the limited partnership. EITF 04-5 states that if the general partner has substantive ability to dissolve (liquidate) or has substantive participating rights then the general partner is presumed to control that partnership and would be required to consolidate the limited partnership. EITF 04-5 is effective for all new limited partnerships and existing partnerships for which the partnership agreements are modified on June 29, 2005. This EITF is effective in fiscal periods beginning after December 15, 2005 for all other limited partnerships. The Company is currently reviewing the potential impact of EITF 04-5. It is not anticipated that adoption will have a material impact on the Company's financial condition or results of operations.

(a) Included as part of secured debt are repurchase agreements of $9,860 and $9,905 where GMAC has pledged assets as collateral for approximately the same amount of debt at September 30, 2005 and December 31, 2004, respectively. Of the total amount of secured debt, approximately $85,796 and $75,230 at September 30, 2005 and December 31, 2004, respectively, represents debt from securitization transactions that is accounted for on-balance sheet as secured financings. As of September 30, 2005, $4,250 and $268 in GMAC Commercial Mortgage Repurchase Agreements and on-balance sheet debt from secured financings, respectively were transferred to liabilities related to reporting segment held for sale on the Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. Refer to Note 1 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for details.

Liquidity Facilities

Liquidity facilities represent additional funding sources, if required. The financial institutions providing the uncommitted facilities are not legally obligated to fund such amounts. The following table summarizes the liquidity facilities maintained by the Company.

(in billions)	Committed facilities		Uncommitted facilities		Total liquidity facilities		Unused liquidity facilities

- (a) The entire $7.4 is available for use by GMAC in the U.S., $0.8 is available for use by GMAC (UK) plc and $0.8 is available for use by GMAC International Finance B.V. in Europe.
- (b) In July 2005, the holding company for GMAC's residential mortgage business, Residential Capital Corporation, closed a $3.5 syndication of its bank facilities, consisting of a $1.75 syndication term loan, a $875 million syndication line of credit committed through July 2008 and a $875 million syndicated line of credit committed through July 2006.
- (c) Relates to New Center Asset Trust (NCAT) and Mortgage Interest Networking Trust (MINT), which are special purpose entities administered by GMAC for the purpose of funding assets as part of GMAC's securitization and mortgage warehouse funding programs. These entities fund assets primarily through the issuance of asset-backed commercial paper and represent an important source of liquidity to the Company. At September 30, 2005, NCAT commercial paper outstandings are $5.5 and are not consolidated in the Company's Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet. At September 30, 2005, MINT had commercial paper outstandings of $2.9, which is reflected as secured debt in the Company's Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet.
- (d) Consists primarily of credit facilities supporting operations in Canada, Europe, Latin America and Asia-Pacific.
- (e) The decline in total bank liquidity facilities from December 31, 2004 to September 30, 2005 is primarily the result of (i) reductions by facility providers in response to the series of negative ratings actions taken by rating agencies on GMAC's unsecured debt ratings and (ii) the strengthening of the U.S. dollar during the first nine months of 2005.
- (f) Consists of committed and uncommitted secured funding facilities with third-parties, including commitments with third-party asset-backed commercial paper conduits, as well as forward flow sale agreements with third-parties and repurchase facilities. Amounts include a five year commitment that GMAC entered into in July 2005 to sell up to $55 of retail automotive receivables to a third-party purchaser. Under this arrangement, an initial sale of $5 was completed in July 2005, with an ability to sell up to $10 annually through June 2010.

General Motors Acceptance Corporation

The syndicated multi-currency global credit facility includes a $4.35 billion five-year facility (expires June 2008) and a $3.0 billion 364-day facility (expires June 2006). The 364-day facility includes a term loan option, which, if exercised by GMAC prior to expiration, carries a one-year term. Additionally, a leverage covenant in the liquidity facilities and certain other funding facilities restricts the ratio of consolidated unsecured debt to total stockholder's equity to no greater than 11.0:1, under certain conditions. More specifically, the covenant is only applicable on the last day of any fiscal quarter (other than the fiscal quarter during which a change in rating occurs) during such times as the Company has senior unsecured long-term debt outstanding, without third-party enhancement, which is rated BBB+ or less (by Standard & Poor's), or Baa1 or less (by Moody's). GMAC's leverage ratio covenant was 7.3:1 at September 30, 2005, and the Company was, therefore, in compliance with this covenant. The leverage covenant calculation excludes from debt those securitization transactions accounted for as on-balance sheet secured financings.

8 Derivative Instruments and Hedging Activities

GMAC enters into interest rate and foreign currency futures, forwards, options and swaps in connection with its market risk management activities. In accordance with SFAS 133, as amended, GMAC records derivative financial instruments on the balance sheet as assets or liabilities at fair value. Changes in fair value are accounted for depending on the use of the derivative financial instrument and whether it qualifies for hedge accounting treatment. Refer to GMAC's 2005 Annual Report on Form 10-K for a more detailed description of GMAC's use of and accounting for derivative financial instruments.

The following table summarizes the pre-tax earnings effect for each type of accounting hedge classification, segregated by the asset or liability being hedged.

9 Transactions with Affiliates

As a wholly-owned subsidiary, GMAC enters into various operating and financing arrangements with its parent GM. An intercompany operating agreement governs the nature of these transactions to ensure that they are done on an arm's-length basis and in accordance with commercially reasonable standards. In addition, GM and GMAC agree that GMAC's total stockholder's equity as reflected in its consolidated financial statements at the end of any quarter will be maintained at a commercially reasonable level appropriate to support the amount, quality and mix of GMAC's assets.

Balance Sheet

A summary of the balance sheet effect of transactions with GM and affiliated companies is as follows:

(in millions)	September 30, 2005	December 31, 2004
Assets:
Dealer receivables due from GM (a)	$68	$125
Operating lease assets, net of depreciation (b)	111	121
Notes receivable from GM and affiliates (c)	5,356	4,921
Advances to improve GM leased properties (d)	960	919
Liabilities:
Accounts payable to GM and affiliates, net (e)	1,192	1,506
Stockholder's equity:
Dividends paid (f)	1,500	1,500

- (a) Represents wholesale financing and term loans to certain dealerships wholly-owned by GM or in which GM has a controlling interest. In addition, GMAC provides financing to dealerships in the amount of $1,604 and $2,455 at September 30, 2005 and December 31, 2004, respectively, in which GM has an ownership interest in the dealership. All of these amounts are included in finance receivables and loans.
- (b) Includes net balance of buildings and other equipment classified as operating lease assets that are leased to GM affiliated entities.
- (c) Includes borrowing arrangements with GM Opel and GM of Canada and arrangements related to GMAC's funding of GM company-owned vehicles, rental car vehicles awaiting sale at auction, GMAC's funding of the sale of GM vehicles through the use of overseas distributors and amounts related to GM trade supplier finance program. In addition, GMAC provides wholesale financing to GM for vehicles in which GM retains title while the vehicles are consigned to GMAC or dealers in the UK. The financing to GM remains outstanding until the title is transferred to the dealers. The amount of financing provided to GM under this arrangement varies based on inventory levels.
- (d) During 2000, GM entered into a 16-year lease arrangement, under which GMAC agreed to fund and capitalize improvements to three Michigan properties leased by GM totaling $1.2 billion. In 2004, the lease arrangement was increased to $1.3 billion.
- (e) Includes wholesale settlements payable to GM, subvention receivables due from GM and notes payable, which are included in accrued expenses, other liabilities and debt, respectively.
- (f) The 2004 amount represents the total dividend payment to GM during the year, all of which was paid during the fourth quarter. The 2005 amount represents quarterly dividends of $500 in each of the first three quarters.

Retail and lease contracts acquired by GMAC that included rate and residual subvention from GM, payable directly to GMAC or indirectly through GM dealers, as a percent of total new retail and lease contracts acquired were as follows:

Nine months ended September 30,	2005	2004
GM and affiliates subvented contracts acquired:
North American operations	77%	67%
International operations	57	58

Off-lease vehicle selling expense reimbursement (f)	(9)	(13)	(12)	(41)
Payments to GM for services, rent and marketing expenses	14	128	105	162

- (a) GM sponsors lease pull-ahead programs whereby consumers are encouraged to terminate lease contracts early in conjunction with the acquisition of a new GM vehicle, with the customer's remaining payment obligation waived. For certain programs, GM compensates GMAC for the waived payments, adjusted based on the remarketing results associated with the underlying vehicle.
- (b) The settlement terms related to the wholesale financing of certain GM products are at shipment date. To the extent that wholesale settlements with GM are made prior to the expiration of transit, interest is received from GM.
- (c) Represents interest on wholesale outstandings at dealerships in which GM owns or has a controlling interest. In addition, GMAC received interest of $16 in both the third quarter 2005 and 2004 and $54 and $49 for the first nine months of 2005 and 2004, respectively, for wholesale outstandings at dealerships in which GM has an ownership interest.
- (d) GMAC of Canada, Limited administers operating lease assets on behalf of GM of Canada Limited and receives a servicing fee, which is included in other income.
- (e) GMAC receives a servicing fee from GM related to the resale of rental car repurchases.
- (f) An agreement with GM provides for the reimbursement of certain selling expenses incurred by GMAC on off-lease vehicles sold by GM at auction.

GM and GMAC have historically entered into various financing arrangements. Currently such arrangements include a $4 billion revolving line of credit from GMAC to GM entered into in September of 2003 that expires in September of 2006. Separately, GM extended a $6 billion revolving line of credit to GMAC in October of 2002 that expires in December of 2005. These credit lines are used for general operating and seasonal working capital purposes and reduce external liquidity requirements, given the differences in the timing of GM and GMAC's peak funding requirements. The maximum amount drawn under these facilities during the quarter ended September 30, 2005 was $1.4 billion by GM. Similar amounts drawn by GM during the third quarter of 2004 were $3.5 billion. Interest income recognized by GMAC (on amounts drawn by GM) during the quarter ended September 30, 2005 totaled $2 million, compared to $13.9 million for the same period in 2004. Interest is payable on amounts advanced under the arrangements based on market interest rates, adjusted to reflect the credit rating of GM or GMAC in its capacity as borrower. On August 2, 2005, GM borrowed $1.4 billion from GMAC under its revolving credit line in order to meet cash flow needs arising during the annual two-week shut-down of its vehicle assembly operations. GM repaid the $1.4 billion on August 12, 2005, and in September 2004, GM repaid $3.5 billion to GMAC that it borrowed under the same credit line during the third quarter of 2004.

In addition, GM provides payment guarantees on certain commercial loans and receivables GMAC has outstanding with certain third-party customers. As of September 30, 2005 and December 31, 2004, GM's exposure under these guarantees were $1,349 million and $1,285 million, respectively.

11 Subsequent Events

On October 17, 2005, in GM's earnings press release filed as an 8-K under Item 2.02, GM announced that it is exploring options to further enhance GMAC's liquidity position and its ability to support GM/ GMAC synergies. In a separate 8-K filed under Item 8.01, GM stated that GM is exploring the possible sale of a controlling interest in GMAC to a strategic partner, with the goal of restoring GMAC's investment grade rating and renewing its access to low-cost financing. In addition, GMAC will continue to evaluate strategic and structural alternatives to help ensure that its residential mortgage business, Residential Capital Corp. retains its investment grade credit ratings .

On November 7, 2005, GMAC's Insurance operations segment announced that it had entered into a definitive agreement to acquire the personal lines operations of ProAssurance Corporation, or MEEMIC Insurance Company, which is based in Auburn Hills, Michigan. MEEMIC Insurance Company is a leading provider of personal auto coverage in Michigan and its business is therefore complementary to that of GMAC Insurance. The proposed transaction is subject to regulatory approval and is expected to be completed some time in the first quarter of 2006. The proposed acquisition is not expected to have a material impact on GMAC's financial condition, results of operations, cash flows or liquidity.

General Motors Acceptance CorporationOverview

General Motors Acceptance Corporation (GMAC or the Company) is a leading global financial services firm with over $300 billion of assets and operations in 41 countries. Founded in 1919 as a wholly-owned subsidiary of General Motors Corporation, GMAC was established to provide GM dealers with the automotive financing necessary to acquire and maintain vehicle inventories and to provide retail customers means by which to finance vehicle purchases through GM dealers. GMAC products and services have expanded beyond automotive financing, and GMAC currently operates in three primary lines of business—Financing, Mortgage and Insurance operations. Refer to GMAC's 2005 Annual Report on Form 10-K for a more complete description of the Company's business activities, along with the products and services offered and the market competition.

Net income for GMAC's businesses is summarized as follows:

(a) Includes North America and International Automotive Finance segments, separately identified in Note 10 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements, as well as the Company's Commercial Finance Group.

(b) Includes GMAC Residential, GMAC-RFC and GMAC Commercial Mortgage segments, separately identified in Note 10 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements, as well as certain corporate activities related to the Mortgage operations.

GMAC earned $675 million in the third quarter of 2005, representing an increase of $55 million from third quarter 2004 earnings of $620 million. Third quarter 2005 earnings represent a record third quarter for GMAC and were achieved despite the unfavorable impact of Hurricane Katrina and continued negative credit rating agency actions. The increase in third quarter earnings was due to the strong performance of GMAC's Mortgage operations which more than offset lower earnings from financing and a modest decline in insurance earnings as compared to the prior year. As a result of Hurricane Katrina, GMAC's third quarter earnings were negatively impacted by approximately $161 million with the majority of the impact related to credit losses in our lending businesses—both auto finance and mortgage—with less significant losses in the insurance business. In addition to strong quarterly earnings, GMAC continued to maintain adequate liquidity, with cash reserve balances at September 30, 2005 of $24.3 billion, comprised of $21.8 billion in cash and cash equivalents and $2.5 billion invested in marketable securities. GMAC also provided a significant source of cash flow to GM through the payment of a $500 million dividend in the third quarter, bringing total year to date dividends paid to its parent to $1.5 billion.

Net income from Financing operations totaled $178 million in the third quarter of 2005, as compared with $259 million earned in the same period of the prior year. The decrease reflects the unfavorable impact of reserves for Hurricane Katrina and lower net interest margins as a result of increased borrowing costs. The reserves for Hurricane Katrina and the decline in net interest margins were somewhat mitigated by the impact of improved used vehicle prices on terminating leases and favorable consumer credit provision primarily as a result of lower asset levels in the third quarter of 2005 as compared to the third quarter of 2004.

Mortgage operations earned record quarterly earnings of $408 million in the third quarter of 2005, an increase of 53% from the $266 million earned in the third quarter of the prior year, reflecting increases in both the residential and commercial mortgage operations. GMAC's residential mortgage businesses benefited from increased gains on sales of mortgages and certain investment securities. In addition, improved servicing results net of hedging activities contributed to the increase in third quarter earnings. GMAC Commercial Mortgage also experienced an increase in third quarter earnings as compared to the prior year largely due to increases in fee and investment income. In August 2005 GMAC entered into a definitive agreement to sell a sixty percent interest in GMAC Commercial Mortgage with the transaction expected to close around year-end.

GMAC's Insurance operations earned $89 million in the third quarter of 2005, consistent with $95 million earned in the third quarter of 2004. Earnings were strong despite the unfavorable impact of reserves for Hurricane Katrina. Strong net underwriting revenue and favorable non-weather related loss experience contributed to the strength in earnings. In addition, GMAC Insurance maintained a strong investment portfolio, with a market value of $7.8 billion at September 30, 2005, including net unrealized gains of $563 million.

The quarterly results presented in this MD&A for the third quarter and nine months ended September 30, 2004 have been restated to adjust for certain amounts that were recognized in the incorrect quarterly period during 2004. Refer to Note 1 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for further details.

In addition, On October 17, 2005, GM announced that it is exploring options to further enhance GMAC's liquidity position and its ability to support GM/ GMAC synergies. GM stated that GM is exploring the possible sale of a controlling interest in GMAC to a strategic partner, with the goal of restoring GMAC's investment grade rating and renewing its access to low-cost financing. In addition, GMAC will continue to evaluate strategic and structural alternatives to help ensure that its residential mortgage business, Residential Capital Corp. retains its investment grade credit ratings.

Financing Operations

GMAC's Financing operations offer a wide range of financial services and products (directly and indirectly) to retail automotive consumers, automotive dealerships and other commercial businesses. The Company's Finance operations comprise two separate reporting segments—North American Automotive Finance Operations and International Automotive Finance Operations and one operating segment—Commercial Finance Group. The products and services offered by GMAC's Financing operations include the purchase of retail installment sales contracts and leases, extension of term loans, dealer floor plan financing and other lines of credit, fleet leasing and factoring of receivables. Refer to of the Company's 2005 Annual Report on Form 10-K for further discussion of the business profile of GMAC's Financing operations.

Results of Operations

The following table summarizes the operating results of the Company's Financing operations for the periods indicated. The amounts presented are before the elimination of balances and transactions with the Company's other reporting segments.

Total assets	$202,642	$217,112	($14,470)	(7)

Net income at GMAC's Financing operations decreased 31% and 30% for the third quarter and first nine months of 2005, respectively, primarily as a result of significantly lower net interest margins due to increased borrowing costs and the impact of $70 million after-tax charges for loss reserves recorded in the third quarter of 2005 related to Hurricane Katrina in the U.S. Lower credit loss provisions in the consumer and commercial portfolio (on the non-Katrina impacted portfolio), continued strong remarketing performance on off-lease vehicles and a decrease in advertising expenses related to joint marketing programs with General Motors helped to reduce the adverse effects of lower net interest margins and Hurricane Katrina.

Total financing revenue increased moderately in the third quarter and first nine months of 2005, as compared to the same periods in the prior year. Consumer financing revenue decreased slightly as a result of lower asset levels. Consumer assets have declined since December 2004 primarily as a result of an increase in the amount of retail automotive whole loan sales transactions executed in the first nine months of 2005. Through September 2005, the Company executed $9 billion in whole loan sales, a $5 billion increase from the comparable period in the prior year. Commercial assets at September 30, 2005 declined since December 2004 as a result of lower dealer inventory levels due to the success of GM's Employee Discount for Everyone campaign which was offered from June 2005 through September 2005. The lower asset levels resulted in the reduction in commercial revenue from the third quarter of 2004 despite higher interest rates. However, revenue from the commercial portfolio increased for the first nine months of 2005 as compared to the first nine months of 2004 as a result of higher average short-term interest rates in the comparable periods. The annual increase in operating lease revenue is consistent with the increase in the annual average size of the operating lease portfolio as a result of increased lease volume.

Management's Discussion and Analysis

The increase in interest and discount expense of $482 million and $1,455 million for the third quarter and first nine months of 2005, respectively, is the direct result of higher funding costs experienced by GMAC due to an increase in market interest rates compounded by wider credit spreads experienced over the past few years due to the Company's deteriorating credit rating. The increased cost of borrowings is reflected in the Company's current funding portfolio, despite lower debt levels, and thereby continues to negatively impact GMAC's net interest margins. Refer to the Funding and Liquidity section of this MD&A for further discussion.

The provision for credit losses decreased by 23% and 41% in the third quarter and first nine months of 2005, respectively. The lower level of loss provisions reflects a decline in consumer asset levels from December 2004 primarily as a result of GMAC's use of retail automotive whole loan sales transactions as a funding source. Somewhat mitigating the favorable impact of lower asset levels was the negative impact of $114 million in pre-tax reserves recorded in September 2005 at GMAC's North American Automotive Finance operations due to Hurricane Katrina. Refer to the Consumer and Commercial Credit sections of this MD&A for further discussion of the credit experience of the Company's financing portfolio.

GMAC's Financing operations continue to benefit from the improvement in the remarketing results of off-lease vehicles, particularly in the United States. Reduced supply of used vehicles and lower initial residual values in the lease assets contributed to an increase in the average gain per vehicle from $459 for the third quarter of 2004 to an average gain per vehicle of $1,017 for the third quarter of 2005. The number of lease terminations in the third quarter of 2005 was 69,406 as compared to 97,792 in the third quarter of 2004. As a result, the total operating lease disposal gain for the third quarter of 2005 was higher than that experienced in the third quarter of 2004, which is consistent with the year to date increase.

Other income increased $222 million and $375 million for the third quarter and first nine months of 2005, respectively. The increase is the result of several factors, including higher investment income on cash and other investments and an increase in interest income related to borrowings to affiliates as a result of an increase in interest rates during the year. In addition, service fee income also increased as a result of the Company's increased use of securitizations and whole loan sales transactions. Noninterest expense for GMAC's Financing operations decreased for the third quarter of 2005, as compared to the same period in 2004 as a result of a decline of $112 million in advertising expenses related to joint marketing programs with General Motors.

Total income tax expense declined by $47 million and $239 million in the third quarter and first nine months of 2005, respectively, as compared to the same periods in 2004. The decrease is primarily the result of a reduction in taxable income, as well as the impact of favorable tax items in the Company's International Automotive Finance Operations.

Total wholesale volume	1,545	1,511			4,732	4,833

GMAC's consumer financing volume and penetration levels are significantly impacted by the nature, timing and extent of GM's use of rate, residual and other financing incentives for marketing purposes on consumer retail contracts and leases. Late in 2004 and through the early part of 2005, GM reduced its use of special rate financing programs and utilized marketing programs that provided cash incentives to customers that use GMAC to finance their purchase of a new GM vehicle. As a result, GMAC's North America penetration levels were positively impacted in the first quarter of 2005 as compared to 2004. However, GM's Employee Discount for Everyone marketing program that was introduced in June 2005 and ran through September 2005 had a negative impact on GMAC's penetration levels. Although GM benefited from an increase in sales, GMAC's penetration levels decreased as the program did not provide consumers with additional incentives to finance with GMAC. As such, GMAC's penetration levels for the third quarter of 2005 are lower than what was experienced in the third quarter of 2004. In GMAC's International Automotive Finance Operations, consumer penetration levels declined in the third quarter and nine months ended 2005, as compared to the same periods of 2004. This decline was principally a result of a reduction in GM incentives on new vehicles in Brazil during the third quarter of 2005, as well as the inclusion of GM vehicle sales in China in the penetration calculation, where GMAC has only recently commenced operations.

GMAC's wholesale financing continues to be the primary funding source for GM dealer inventories, as 2005 penetration levels in North America remained relatively consistent with 2004 levels, and continue to reflect traditionally strong levels. The decrease in the Company's share of GM sales to dealers for the International portfolio is primarily due to a decline in several countries in Europe as a result of the increase in GM direct programs where GMAC does not provide financing to dealers, and the inclusion of Daewoo, which has a comparably lower level of financings as a percentage of GM sales to dealers than other GM brands.

Consumer Credit

The following tables summarize pertinent loss experience in the consumer managed and on-balance sheet automotive retail contract portfolio. In general, the credit quality of the off-balance sheet portfolio is representative of GMAC's overall managed consumer automotive retail contract portfolio. The off-balance sheet portfolio includes receivables securitized and sold that the Company continues to service and in which GMAC retains an interest or risk of loss, but excludes securitized and sold finance receivables that GMAC continues to service but in which GMAC retains no interest or risk of loss. However, the process of creating a pool of retail finance receivables for securitization or sale typically excludes accounts that are greater than 30 days delinquent at such time. In addition, the process involves selecting from a pool of receivables that are currently outstanding and, therefore, represent seasoned accounts. A seasoned portfolio that excludes delinquent accounts historically results in better credit performance in the managed portfolio than in the on-balance sheet portfolio of retail finance receivables. In addition, the current off-balance sheet transactions are comprised mainly of subvented rate retail finance receivables, which generally attract higher quality customers (or otherwise cash purchasers) than customers typically associated with non-subvented receivables.

The managed portfolio includes retail receivables held on-balance sheet for investment and the off-balance sheet receivables portfolio. GMAC believes that the disclosure of the credit experience of the managed portfolio presents a more complete presentation of GMAC's credit exposure because the managed basis reflects not only on-balance sheet receivables, but also securitized assets as to which GMAC retains a risk of loss in the underlying assets (typically in the form of a subordinated retained interest). Consistent with the presentation in the Condensed Consolidated Balance Sheet, retail contracts presented in the table represent the principal balance of the finance receivable discounted for any unearned rate support received from GM.

(a) Represents the related allowance for credit losses as a percentage of total on-balance sheet consumer automotive retail contracts.

Credit fundamentals in GMAC's consumer automotive portfolio remain stable with a slight deterioration in delinquencies and an improvement in consumer credit loss rates and loss severity in the third quarter of 2005, as compared to the same period in 2004. The decrease in loss severity is illustrated by a reduction in the average loss incurred per new vehicle repossessed in the United States traditional portfolio, which declined from $7,986 in the third quarter of 2004 to $7,856 in the third quarter of 2005. The decline in loss severity is attributable to the strengthening in the used vehicle market resulting from a lower supply of used vehicles. The increase in delinquency trends in the North America portfolio is the result of a moderate weakening in the credit quality of the portfolio during the third quarter of 2005, with delinquencies for the nine months of 2005 stable as compared to the prior year. Conversely, delinquency trends in the International portfolio have shown an improvement since September 2004 as a result of a change in the mix of new and used retail contracts in the portfolio, as well as an improvement in credit performance in certain international markets.

Consumer credit loss rates in North America decreased in the third quarter of 2005 and nine months of 2005, as compared to the same periods in 2004. The decrease is reflective of the improvement in credit quality experienced in the past year primarily due to severity. The increase in the number of bankruptcies in the U.S. portfolio from September 30, 2004 reflects increased activity as a result of legislation effective October 17, 2005, which will make it more difficult for U.S. consumers to file for bankruptcy protection in the future. As a result, the increase in bankruptcies reflects an acceleration of bankruptcy filings in the current period and does not reflect an overall deterioration in credit quality of the portfolio. It is expected that the number of bankruptcies will start to decline as a result of the legislation.

Commercial Credit

GMAC's credit risk on the commercial portfolio is markedly different than that of its consumer portfolio. Whereas the consumer portfolio represents a homogenous pool of retail contracts that exhibit fairly predictable and stable loss patterns, the commercial portfolio exposures are less predictable. In general, the credit risk of the commercial portfolio is tied to overall economic conditions in the countries in which the Company operates.

At September 30, 2005, the only commercial receivables that had been securitized and accounted for as off-balance sheet transactions represent wholesale lines of credit extended to automotive dealerships, which historically experience low losses. Since only wholesale accounts have historically been securitized, the amount of losses on GMAC's managed portfolio is the same as the on-balance sheet portfolio. As a result, only the on-balance sheet commercial portfolio credit experience is presented in the following table:

($ in millions)	Total loans		Impaired loans (a)
	September 30, 2005	September 30, 2005	Dec 31, 2004	September 30, 2004

Net charge-offs in the commercial portfolio remain at traditionally low levels in 2005. Charge-offs in the commercial portfolio declined as compared to 2004 as a result of a continued decrease in the amount of charge-offs at the Company's Commercial Finance Group (included in other commercial financing in the preceding table). Impaired loans in the wholesale commercial loan portfolio have also decreased in comparison to December 2004 and September 2004 levels as a result of a decrease in the amounts outstanding in the wholesale lines of credit for certain dealer accounts. In addition, impaired loans have also declined in the other commercial financing portfolio since December 2004 and September 2004.

Mortgage Operations

GMAC's Mortgage operations comprise three separate operating and reporting segments: GMAC Residential Holding Corp. (GMAC Residential), GMAC-RFC Holding Corp., (GMAC-RFC) and GMAC Commercial Holding Corp. (GMAC Commercial Mortgage). In March 2005, GMAC transferred ownership of GMAC Residential and GMAC-RFC to a newly formed wholly-owned holding company, Residential Capital Corporation (ResCap). ResCap owns GMAC Residential and GMAC-RFC and their subsidiaries. For additional information please read ResCap's quarterly report on Form 10-Q for the period ended September 30, 2005, filed separately with the SEC, which report will not be deemed incorporated into any filing of the Company under the Securities Act of 1933 or the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. In addition, on August 3, 2005, GMAC announced that it had entered into a definitive agreement to sell a sixty percent equity interest in GMAC Commercial Mortgage. Refer to Note 1 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for further details.

The principal activities of the three segments involve the origination, purchase, servicing, sale and securitization of consumer (i.e., residential) and commercial mortgage loans and mortgage related products (e.g., real estate services). Typically, mortgage loans are originated and sold to investors in the secondary market, including securitization transactions in which the assets are legally sold but are accounted for as secured financings. Refer to the Company's 2005 Annual Report on Form 10-K for further discussion of the business profile of GMAC's Mortgage operations.

Mortgage loan production increased in the third quarter and first nine months of 2005, as compared to the same periods in the prior year, as a result of increased market share at the residential mortgage operations and increased volume at the commercial mortgage operations. Commensurate with the increase in mortgage loan production, the size of servicing portfolio has also increased since December 2004.

Results of Operations

Net income for GMAC's Mortgage operations is summarized as follows:

Period ended September 30, (in millions)	Third Quarter		Nine Months
	2005	2004	2005	2004

GMAC Residential	$118	$105	$283	$207

GMAC Commercial Mortgage	128	60	229	135
Other (a)	(1)		4
Net Income	$408	$266	$1,131	$815

(a) Represents certain corporate activities of ResCap, reflected in Other as described in Note 10 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements.

GMAC's Mortgage operations continued to post strong results with increases in both the residential and commercial mortgage businesses resulting in net income of $408 million and $1,131 million for the third quarter and first nine months of 2005, respectively. These results represent increases of 53% and 39% over the same periods of 2004. Earnings benefited from increased loan production resulting in an increase in gains on sales of loans. In addition, the favorable effects of valuation gains on the investment portfolio and favorable mortgage servicing results mitigated lower net interest margins due to increased borrowing costs.

GMAC Residential earned $118 million and $283 million for the third quarter and first nine months of 2005, respectively, representing increases over the $105 million and $207 million earned in the same periods of the prior year. GMAC Residential's earnings benefited from improved servicing results and higher origination volumes and were slightly offset by $21 million after-tax charges for reserves recorded in the third quarter 2005 related to Hurricane Katrina.

Net financing revenue was negatively impacted by increases in short-term interest rates and the resulting increase in interest and discount expense. Gains on sales of loans increased as compared to the same periods in 2004 as GMAC Residential realized market share increases which resulted in increased loan production volume.

Net servicing results were favorable as a result of increased mortgage servicing fees due to growth in GMAC Residential's servicing portfolio in the first nine months of 2005 compared to the same period in 2004. In addition, net servicing income benefited from a reduction in amortization and impairment due to the favorable impact of slower than expected prepayments consistent with observed trends in the portfolio and rising interest rates.

The increase in other income at GMAC Residential relates to interest earned on investments in U.S. Treasury securities, which are utilized as economic hedges for the Company's mortgage servicing rights asset. Non-interest expense was higher as compared to the prior year periods primarily due to an increase in salaries and commissions due to an increase in loan production and employees.

GMAC-RFC earned $163 million and $615 million for the third quarter and first nine months of 2005, respectively representing increases from the $101 million and $473 million in earnings from the comparable 2004 periods. Valuation gains on the investment portfolio, favorable trends in credit loss provisions and higher gains on sales of loans mitigated the negative impacts of lower net interest margins and $50 million after-tax charges for Hurricane Katrina related losses.

GMAC-RFC's results were negatively impacted by an increase in interest and discount expense as a result of an increase in short-term interest rates. However, the increase in interest and discount expense was partially offset by a favorable change in the provision for credit losses. The decreases in the provision for credit losses was primarily caused by the decline in the rate of growth of the mortgage loan held for investment portfolio due to an increase in the amount of off-balance-sheet securitizations. GMAC-RFC increased its volume of off-balance sheet securitizations in order to take advantage of certain market conditions that made it more economical to securitize and sell all the credit risk on certain nonprime and home equity products rather than to retain the structures on the balance sheet. In addition, the decrease in the provision was caused by favorable loss severity as compared to expectations primarily due to home price appreciation. These items were partially offset by an increase in reserves for losses on loans in Hurricane Katrina affected areas.

Net loan servicing income increased due to lower MSR amortization and impairment due to slower prepayment speeds. The increase in gains on sales of loans at GMAC-RFC is due to higher overall loan production and the increased volume of off-balance sheet securitizations versus on-balance sheet secured financings. The increase in other income of approximately $50 million and $227 million in the third quarter and first nine months of 2005, respectively, is primarily related to the favorable net impact on the valuation of retained interests from updating estimates of future credit losses resulting from favorable credit loss experience and favorable changes in market rates, offset by the valuation of residual assets affected by Hurricane Katrina. In addition, other income includes an increase in other investment income, primarily related to equity investments.

GMAC Commercial Mortgage earned $128 million and $229 million in the third quarter and first nine months of 2005, both increases from the $60 million and $135 million recognized in the prior year. Earnings benefited from increased loan production, higher asset levels and an increase in fee-based revenue. Increased production and resulting asset levels led to increases in both financing revenue and interest and discount expense. In addition, the provision for credit losses increased due to specific impairments taken on certain non performing loan portfolios.

Gains on sales of loans were lower in the third quarter of 2005 as compared to 2004 as higher gains on U.S. and European investment sales were offset by lower gains on the Asian nonperforming loan portfolio. In addition, year to date 2005 gains on sales of loans were negatively impacted by lower gains on the Asian nonperforming loan portfolio. Other income was favorably impacted by higher investment income in the Company's bond portfolio as well as increases in real estate equity investments. Non-interest expense increased primarily due to a higher level of compensation expense.

The following table summarizes the nonperforming assets in GMAC's Mortgage operations on-balance sheet held for sale and held for investment residential mortgage loan portfolios for each of the periods presented. Nonperforming assets are nonaccrual loans, foreclosed assets and restructured loans. Mortgage loans are generally placed on nonaccrual status when they are 60 days or more past due, or when the timely collection of the principal of the loan, in whole or in part, is doubtful. Management's classification of a loan as nonaccrual does not necessarily indicate that the principal of the loan is uncollectible in whole or in part.

(a) Represents the related allowance for credit losses as a percentage of total on-balance sheet residential mortgage loans held for investment at the end of the period.

The increase in nonperforming assets in the third quarter of 2005 as compared to the same period in 2004 is primarily the result of credit seasoning of the mortgage loans held for investment portfolio that were originated in prior years. The Company's use of securitization transactions accounted for as secured financings over the past few years resulted in asset growth and, over time, an increase in the allowance as these assets mature. Starting in 2001, and through the first quarter of 2005, the Company structured many of its securitization transactions as secured financings as opposed to its historical exclusive use of off-balance sheet transactions. However, recently the Company has been utilizing more securitization transactions where the entire credit risk is sold resulting in increased off-balance sheet transactions. As a result the Company's on balance sheet mortgage portfolio has become more seasoned resulting in a higher amount of non-performing assets. The portions of the portfolio most impacted by this change are the nonconforming and nonprime loan portfolios. As a result of these factors, the allowance for credit losses as a percentage of the total on-balance sheet held for investment residential mortgage loan portfolio also increased from September and December 2004.

Commercial Credit

The primary commercial credit exposures relate to the commercial mortgage operations, as well as the warehouse and construction lending activities of the residential mortgage operations. At GMAC Commercial Mortgage, credit risk primarily arises from direct and indirect relationships with borrowers who may default and potentially cause the Company to incur a loss if it is unable to collect amounts due through loss mitigation strategies. The portion of the allowance for estimated losses on commercial mortgage loans not specifically identified for impairment is based on periodic reviews and analysis of the total portfolio and considers past loan experience, the current credit composition of the total portfolio, historical credit migration, property type diversification, default and loss severity statistics and other relevant factors.

The amount of impaired loans in GMAC Commercial Mortgage's loan portfolios amounted to $207 million, $208 million and $290 million at September 30, 2005, December 31, 2004 and September 30, 2004, respectively. The reduction in impaired loans from September 30, 2004 to September 30, 2005 is the result of the resolution of certain assets during the year. Actual net charge-offs in GMAC Commercial Mortgage's on-balance sheet held for investment commercial loan portfolio remained low at $11 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2005.

The Company's residential mortgage operations have commercial credit exposure through warehouse and construction lending related activities. The following table summarizes the nonperforming assets and net charge-offs in GMAC Residential and GMAC-RFC on-balance sheet held for investment lending receivables portfolios for each of the periods presented. Nonperforming lending receivables are nonaccrual loans, foreclosed assets and restructured loans. Lending receivables are generally placed on nonaccrual status when they are 90 days or more past due or when timely collection of the principal of the loan, in whole or in part, is doubtful. Management's classification of a receivable as nonaccrual does not necessarily indicate that the principal amount of the loan is uncollectible in whole or in part.

($ in millions)	September 30, 2005	December 31, 2004	September 30, 2004
Nonperforming lending receivables:
Warehouse	$1	$5	$4
Construction	9
Other		2
Total nonaccrual lending receivables	10	7	4
Foreclosed assets	11	8	9
Total nonperforming assets	$21	$15	$13
As a % of total lending receivables portfolio	0.18%	0.16%	0.14%

Total nonperforming balances remained relatively stable since December 31, 2004 and September 30, 2004. Nonperforming assets related to warehouse and construction lending activities for the first nine months of 2005 reflect the unfavorable credit experience for a small number of construction loans at GMAC-RFC since December 31, and September 30, 2004, partially offset by the resolution of a number of nonperforming warehouse loans since September 30, 2004.

The allowance for credit losses for the on-balance sheet commercial mortgage loan and mortgage lending receivables portfolios was $203 million, $149 million and $131 million at September 30, 2005, December 31, 2004 and September 30, 2004, respectively. The increase since December 31, 2004 is due to unfavorable credit experience related to specific loans within the commercial portfolio, consistent with the increase in impaired loans since December 31, 2004.

Combined Ratio (a)	94.6%	93.5%			94.3%	94.7%

(a) The Company's management uses combined ratio as a primary measure of underwriting profitability, with its components measured using Generally Accepted Accounting Principles. Underwriting profitability is indicated by a combined ratio under 100 percent and is calculated as the sum of all reported losses and expenses (excluding interest and income tax expense) divided by the total of premiums and service revenues earned and other income. Net income from Insurance operations totaled $89 million and $284 million for the third quarter and first nine months of 2005, respectively, as compared to $95 million and $261 million for the same periods in 2004. Lower net income for the third quarter of 2005 over the same period in 2004 is attributable to an increase in the combined ratio from 93.5% to 94.6%. During the third quarter of 2005, $18 million of after-tax incurred losses were recorded relating to Hurricane Katrina. The Hurricane Katrina losses reflects GMAC's net impact after considering salvage and reinsurance recovery. Partially offsetting the Hurricane Katrina losses was a decrease in the ratio of losses incurred to earned premium for service contracts. Acquisition and underwriting expenses also increased during the quarter. For the first nine months of 2005 as compared to the same period in 2004, the combined ratio improved to 94.3% from 94.7% due to a decrease in losses incurred partially offset by an increase in acquisition and underwriting expenses. Acquisition costs have increased in part due to higher producer compensation on extended service contracts. Investment income increased in the third quarter and first nine months of 2005 as compared to the same 2004 periods, primarily due to larger debt and equity portfolios of invested assets. The market value of the investment portfolio was $7.8 billion at September 30, 2005 compared to $6.6 billion at September 30, 2004.

Critical Accounting Estimates

The Company has identified critical accounting estimates that, as a result of judgments, uncertainties, uniqueness and complexities of the underlying accounting standards and operations involved could result in material changes to its financial condition, results of operations or cash flows under different conditions or using different assumptions.

GMAC's most critical accounting estimates are:

Determination of the allowance for credit losses

Valuation of automotive lease residuals

Valuation of mortgage servicing rights

Valuation of interests in securitized assets

Determination of reserves for insurance losses and loss adjustment expenses

There have been no significant changes in the methodologies and processes used in developing these estimates from what is described in the Company's 2005 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

Funding and Liquidity

Funding Sources and Strategy

The Company's liquidity, as well as its ongoing profitability, is in large part dependent upon its timely access to capital and the costs associated with raising funds in different segments of the capital markets. Over the past several years, GMAC's funding strategy has focused on the development of diversified funding sources across a global investor base, both public and private, and as appropriate the extension of debt maturities. This strategy, combined with a continuous prefunding of requirements, is designed to meet the Company's obligations. In addition, the Company maintains a large cash position that can be utilized to meet its obligations in the event of any market disruption. As part of its cash management strategy, from time to time the Company repurchases previously issued debt, but does so in a manner that does not compromise overall liquidity.

The diversity of the Company's funding sources enhances funding flexibility, limits dependence on any one source of funds and results in a more cost effective strategy over the longer term. In developing this approach, management considers market conditions, prevailing interest rates, liquidity needs and the desired maturity profile of its liabilities. This strategy has helped the Company maintain liquidity during periods of weakness in the capital markets, changes in the Company's business, or changes in the Company's credit ratings.

(a) Excludes fair value adjustment as described in Note 7 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements.

(b) Includes consumer and commercial bank deposits and dealer wholesale deposits.

(c) Represents net funding from securitizations of retail and wholesale automotive receivables and mortgage loans accounted for as sales further described in Note 8 to the Consolidated Financial Statements in the Company's 2005 Annual Report on Form 10-K.

(d) Includes $21,826 in cash and cash equivalents and $2,522 invested in marketable securities at September 30, 2005.

(e) As described in Note 7 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements, the Company's liquidity facilities and certain other funding facilities contain a leverage ratio covenant of 11.0:1, which excludes from debt, securitization transactions that are accounted for on-balance sheet as secured financings (totaling $86,064 and $75,230 at September 30, 2005, and December 31, 2004, respectively). GMAC's debt to equity ratio was 11.1:1 and 12.0:1, at September 30, 2005 and December 31, 2004, respectively, as determined by accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America, which was the former basis for the leverage ratio covenant.

- (f) Represents both committed and uncommitted bank liquidity facilities. Refer to Note 7 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for details.
- (g) Represents both committed and uncommitted secured funding facilities. Includes commitments with third-party asset-backed commercial paper conduits as well as forward flow sale agreements with third parties and repurchase facilities. Refer to Note 7 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements for details.

In the second and third quarters of 2005, GMAC's unsecured debt ratings were lowered to a non-investment grade rating by three of the four nationally recognized rating agencies that rate GMAC (refer to the Credit Ratings section of this MD&A for further information). These downgrades were a continuation of a series of negative rating actions over the past few years caused by concerns as to the financial outlook of GM, including its overall market position in the automotive industry and its burdensome health care obligations. In anticipation of, and as a result of these negative rating actions, the Company has modified its diversified funding strategy to focus on an increased use of liquidity sources other than institutional unsecured markets. In particular, the Company has increased the use of secured funding sources beyond traditional asset classes and geographic markets and has also increased the use of automotive whole loan sales. The increased use of whole loan sales is part of the migration to an originate and sell model for the U.S. automotive finance business. Through September 2005, the Company has executed $9 billion in whole loan sales and is obligated to sell $25 billion in retail automotive receivables with commitments from third-parties to purchase up to $55 billion over the next five years.

In addition, through its banking activities, bank deposits (certificates of deposits and brokered deposits) have become an important funding source for the Company. GMAC has also been able to diversify its unsecured funding through the formation of Residential Capital Corporation (ResCap). ResCap was formed as the holding company of GMAC's residential mortgage businesses and in the second quarter of 2005 successfully achieved an investment grade rating (independent from GMAC) and issued $4 billion of unsecured debt through a private placement offering. Following the bond offering, in July 2005 ResCap closed a $3.5 billion syndication of its bank facilities consisting of a $1.75 billion syndicated term loan, a $875 million syndicated line of credit committed through July 2008 and a $875 million syndicated line of credit committed through July 2006. These facilities are intended to be used primarily for general corporate and working capital purposes, as well as to repay affiliate borrowings, thus providing additional liquidity to GMAC. As previously described, in August 2005 GMAC announced that it had entered into a definitive agreement to sell a sixty percent equity interest in GMAC Commercial Mortgage, while maintaining the remaining forty percent equity interest. Under the terms of the transaction, GMAC Commercial Mortgage will repay all intercompany loans to GMAC upon the closing, which is expected to close around year-end, thereby providing GMAC significant incremental liquidity.

The change in focus on the funding strategy has allowed the Company to maintain adequate access to capital and a sufficient liquidity position despite reductions in and limited access to traditional unsecured funding sources (i.e., commercial paper, term debt, bank loans and lines of credit) due to the deterioration in GMAC's unsecured credit rating. GMAC has essentially completed its funding requirements for its U.S. term funding program for 2005 and any additional funding in 2005 will be pre-funding executed on an opportunistic basis.

Unsecured sources most impacted by the reduction in GMAC's credit rating have been the Company's commercial paper programs, access to the term debt markets, certain bank loan arrangements primarily in Mortgage and International Automotive operations, as well as FNMA custodial borrowing arrangements at GMAC Residential. In addition to these unsecured sources of funds, GMAC's bank liquidity facilities have also been negatively impacted by concerns over the Company's credit rating which has led to a reduction in the Company's committed and uncommitted facilities since December 31, 2004.

A further reduction of GMAC's credit ratings such that GMAC would be rated non-investment grade by all of the nationally recognized rating agencies that rate GMAC could increase borrowing costs and further constrain GMAC's access to unsecured debt markets, including capital markets for retail debt. In addition, a further reduction of GMAC's credit ratings could increase the possibility of additional terms and conditions contained in any new or replacement financing arrangements as well as impacting elements of certain existing secured borrowing arrangements. However, GMAC's funding strategy has increased the Company's focus on expanding and developing diversified secured funding sources that are not directly affected by ratings on unsecured debt. Accordingly, the possibility of a further reduction of GMAC's credit ratings is not expected to have a material effect on GMAC's access to adequate capital to meet the Company's funding needs in the short- and medium-term. With limited access to traditional unsecured funding sources, management will continue to diversify and expand its use of asset-backed funding and believes that its funding strategy will provide sufficient access to the capital markets to meet the Company's short- and medium-term funding needs. Notwithstanding the foregoing, management believes that the current ratings situation and outlook increases the level of risk as to the long-term ability of the Company to sustain the current level of asset originations. Management continuously assesses this matter and is seeking to mitigate the increased risk by exploring whether actions could be taken that would provide a basis for rating agencies to evaluate GMAC's financial performance in order to provide GMAC with ratings independent of those assigned to GM. On October 17, 2005, GM made an announcement that it is exploring the possible sale of a controlling interest in GMAC to a strategic partner, with the goal of restoring GMAC's investment grade rating and renewing its access to low-cost financing. Currently, Moody's, DBRS and Standard & Poor's assign a different credit rating to GMAC than they do to GM with all three agencies having outlooks on the GMAC rating as evolving or developing as outlined in the following table. There can be no assurance that any such actions by the Company would be taken or that such actions, if taken, would be successful in achieving or maintaining in some cases, a split rating from the rating agencies.

Credit Ratings

The cost and availability of unsecured financing is influenced by credit ratings, which are intended to be an indicator of the creditworthiness of a particular company, security, or obligation. Lower ratings generally result in higher borrowing costs as well as reduced access to capital markets. This is particularly true for certain term debt institutional investors whose investment guidelines require investment grade term ratings and for short-term institutional investors (money markets in particular) whose investment guidelines require the two highest rating categories for short-term debt. Substantially all of the Company's debt has been rated by nationally recognized statistical rating organizations. Concerns over the competitive and financial strength of GM, including how it will fund its burdensome health care liabilities, have resulted in the Company experiencing a series of negative rating actions, which commenced late in 2001. In the second and third quarters of 2005, Standard & Poor's, Fitch and Moody's downgraded the senior debt of GMAC to a non-investment grade rating with DBRS continuing to maintain an investment grade rating on GMAC's senior debt. On October 3, 2005, Standard & Poor's placed GMAC's ratings on CreditWatch with negative implications. Subsequently, on October 10, 2005, Standard & Poor's affirmed the CreditWatch for GMAC's ratings but the implications changed from negative to developing which means that the ratings could be raised or lowered. On October 10, 2005, Moody's placed the senior unsecured ratings of GMAC under review for a possible downgrade and on October 17, 2005, Moody's announced a change in the review status to direction uncertain from review for possible downgrade. In addition, Moody's placed GMAC's Non-Prime short term rating on review for possible upgrade. On October 17, 2005, Fitch placed the ratings of GMAC on Rating Watch Evolving. On October 11, 2005, DBRS placed the ratings of GMAC under review with developing implications and affirmed the review status on October 17, 2005. These latest ratings actions are a result of GM's announcement on October 17 that it is exploring the possible sale of a controlling interest in GMAC to a strategic partner.

The following summarizes GMAC's current ratings, outlook and the date of last rating or outlook change by the respective nationally recognized rating agencies.

Rating Agency	Commercial Paper	Senior Debt	Outlook	Date of Last Action
Fitch	B	BB	Evolving	September 26, 2005 (a)

DBRS	R-2 (low)	BBB (low)	Developing	August 2, 2005 (d)

(a) Fitch downgraded the senior debt of GMAC to BB from BB+, affirmed the commercial paper rating of B, and on October 17, 2005 placed the ratings on Rating Watch Evolving.

(b) Moody's lowered the senior debt of GMAC to Ba1 from Baa2, downgraded the commercial paper rating to Not-Prime from Prime-2, and on October 17, 2005 changed the review status of the long-term debt ratings to direction uncertain.

(c) Standard & Poor's downgraded the senior debt of GMAC to BB from BBB-, downgraded the commercial paper rating to B-1 from A-3, and on October 10, 2005 changed the outlook to CreditWatch with developing implications.

(d) DBRS downgraded the senior debt of GMAC to BBB (low) from BBB, downgraded the commercial paper rating to R-2 (low) from R-2 (middle), and on October 11, 2005 placed the ratings under review with developing implications and affirmed the review status on October 17, 2005.

In addition, ResCap, a wholly-owned subsidiary of GMAC, has separate credit ratings from the nationally recognized rating agencies. The following table summarizes ResCap's current ratings, outlook and the date of the last rating or outlook change by the respective agency.
